

Ready To Talk On Peace

UN Argues on Whether Lie be Supported For His Re-election

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20.—(P)—The United States announced today it was prepared to take part in a five-power meeting on problems threatening world peace.

This announcement was made in the U.N. Assembly's political committee by John Foster Dulles, Republican policy advisor to the State department. He warned, however, against underestimating the complexities of the problems involved and said the United States would insist on agreements based on justice.

Dulles backed the objectives of a Syrian-Iraq resolution calling for big power consultations. The five major nations would report back to the current session of the General Assembly any progress achieved.

Britain and France supported the basic aims of the resolution. Russia has not participated thus far in the debate.

A flood of suggested changes, some of them largely of a drafting nature, were brought in by various delegations backing the goal sought in the resolution. The committee adjourned until tomorrow morning to allow Iraq and Syria time to confer with other delegations on the incorporation of amendments.

Denial By Dulles

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20.—(P)—Russia's Jacob A. Malik said today John Foster Dulles told him in a private conversation that U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie had followed a "double-faced policy" but that the United States did not support Lie for re-election because of certain commitments.

Dulles denied he had told Malik anything like this. He charged the Soviet delegate was merely trying to discredit Lie.

In a statement to the press, Dulles, Republican advisor to Secretary of State Acheson said: "There is no truth in Mr. Malik's reported statement to the Associated Press and other U.N. correspondents. This is just another attempt of the Soviet Union to discredit Secretary-General Lie because of the firm stand he has taken in support of United Nations action in resisting aggression in Korea."

Malik met a reporter in the delegates lounge at the U.N. and relayed the information he had talked with Dulles about the post of secretary-general. Malik vetoed the re-election of Lie and the question will come up again in a secret meeting of the Security Council this afternoon.

The Soviet delegate said he did not believe one man should have the job longer than five years, which is one term.

After all, he said, it is not like being president of the United States.

Malik, asked if he had a candidate for the post, grinned and said no. He said that his candidate might be Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, but that he was certain that Austin, committed to Lie, would vote against himself.

Soviet Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky entertained Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine foreign minister, at dinner last night. Vishinsky has suggested to Romulo that Romulo be a candidate for the post but Romulo has turned away from all such suggestions, from Vishinsky or from any other quarter.

At this stage no one would predict the outcome of the fight over the secretary-generalship.

Negro Suspect Is in Hospital

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 20.—(P)—Authorities decided today to give a Negro sex offender a chance to recover from wounds before he is confronted by a white woman who accused him of raping her and killing her small son.

The Negro was sped here yesterday after he was mowed down by fire from guns of enraged possemen.

The officers said the man will be placed in a police lineup after he recovers. Hospital attendants said his condition is improved, but they are unable to say when he will be able to go in the lineup.

The Negro, 28-year-old Cooper Drake, was released from the federal penitentiary three months ago after serving a conviction for assault with intent to rape while in the army.

Both he and 37-year-old Mrs. Kathleen Holley are patients at Jefferson-Hillman Memorial hospital.

Symphony Artist

William Watkins, organist of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church in Washington, D. C. will be the featured artist at the first concert of the sixteenth season for the Sedalia Symphony orchestra Monday night at 8:20 o'clock. Mr. Watkins was winner of the 1949 Young Artist award in organ, presented by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Pooling Plan Of Schuman To be Opposed

May be Difficult To Get it Working On Coal And Steel

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 20.—(P)—Carrying out the Schuman plan for pooling western Europe's coal and steel resources appeared in jeopardy tonight.

The plan—fostered by French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman—was hailed only a few months ago as Europe's greatest hope for the future.

But now German, Belgian and French steel industrialists, seeing unlimited demand for steel in the west's huge rearmament program, have hardened against the Schuman proposal.

Six months ago Germany could not export all the steel it could produce. Today it cannot fill all its orders. The same is true of other steel combines.

Six months ago the plan was looked upon by many industrialists as guaranteeing a steady market at stabilized prices. Now the market is unlimited.

A west German government spokesman repeated today that west Germany is solidly for the plan.

While other west European governments—not including England—have agreed to the plan and are sticking by it, industrial opposition will make carrying it out difficult.

Sedalians Are Officers Of Dental Association

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 20.—(P)—Dr. H. B. Hunter of Sedalia was named president-elect of the Central Missouri Dental association here yesterday. Dr. O. J. Durnell, Sedalia, became president. He succeeds Dr. F. L. Shields, Boonville.

Old Smokestacks Were Dynamited

FLAT RIVER, Mo., Oct. 20.—(P)—Employees at the Union Electric Co. plant near here had a hard time keeping their minds on their work yesterday.

Three 160-foot smokestacks, out of use since the company abandoned a generating plant, were dynamited. Employees didn't even leave their posts to watch the operation.

The first smokestack went down with a roar at 11 a. m., the second at 2 p. m., and the third at 3:15 p. m. Two of the smokestacks were attached to the buildings.

Former Mayor E. J. Kelly of Chicago Dead

Stricken And Expired on Way To Doctor's Office

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(P)—Former Mayor Edward J. Kelly, 74, Democratic national committee man from Illinois, died today.

He was stricken in his suite at the Ambassador East hotel and died on the way to a doctor's office.

His death was a shock to his friends. He had been active, and during recent weeks had appeared at several Democratic rallies.

He was Chicago's mayor from 1933 to 1947, longer than any other mayor, and one of the leading political forces contributing to the elections of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt as president.

Kelly called himself "boss" of Chicago politics and never made any bones about having a powerful "machine."

Cermack Successor
He was selected in 1933 by the city council to serve the unexpired mayoral term of Anton J. Cermack, who was assassinated in Florida.

As mayor the tall, red haired Kelly quickly became a national political figure.

He remained such even after he gave up his city hall office in favor of Democratic Martin H. Kennelly. His advisers had told him it would be political suicide for him to try for a fifth term.

In 1948, as Illinois committee man at the Democratic national convention, he helped nominate President Truman although some other Illinois leaders talked about ditching the President.

He ruled as mayor with a strong political hand. He used to say: "You've got to be boss."

After retirement from the mayor's job he suffered temporarily from heart and kidney ailments, but he was believed to have recovered. He also was bothered by a trick knee.

Calls For Peace

Prayers on Thanksgiving
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(P)—Proclaiming Thanksgiving day, President Truman yesterday called upon all Americans "in church, chapel and synagogue, in their homes and in the busy walks of life, every day and everywhere, to pray for peace."

Under legislation which congress approved in 1941, Thanksgiving day falls each year on the fourth Thursday of November—this year the 23rd.

Tighten Up On The Use of New Rubber

Restriction be About What Was Used Before Korean War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(P)—The National Production Authority (NPA) today tightened up its limitations on rubber to restrict tire and rubber companies to approximately what they used before fighting broke out in Korea.

The new order limits natural rubber usage to 75 per cent and total consumption (including synthetic) to 84 per cent, of the new rubber used in the year preceding June 30.

However, because of adjustments granted to the rubber companies in special appeals cases, NPA officials said the result will be to limit the concerns to approximately their average monthly usage in the base year.

Earl W. Glen, chief of the NPA rubber division, said the proportion of synthetic rubber in tires will increase without "any particular quality deterioration," and the number of tires produced should be approximately the same as in the year ended last June 30. Officials have said previously that they expect no shortage of tires.

The order directs that no plant shall use in November more than 75 per cent of the tonnage of natural rubber consumed in the base year. In December a limit of 63 per cent on natural is provided.

The aim is to make available natural rubber for the defense stockpile. But because of the appeal machinery, the rubber companies will get about 52,000 tons of natural rubber in November and 45,000 in December—figures which are fairly close to the 50,000-ton-a-month average in the base period.

Youth Sets Fire To 18 Houses

CASPER, Wyo., Oct. 20.—(P)—An 18-year-old boy set fire to nine business houses here last night, causing an estimated $100,000 damage, Police Administrator Leslie Sawyer said.

He identified the youth as Don Bennett. He said Bennett admitted starting the blazes because of a group of correspondents as the prisoners marched arm in arm with three North Korean students who had befriended them. The Americans told of buddies being "beaten and murdered" on a torture march from Seoul.

Air force Capt. William Locke, 30, route 2, Enfield, Ga., an F-51 pilot whose wife Ronda and nine-month-old daughter Karen were at Yokosaki air base in Japan when he crashed in North Korean territory near Waegwan August 17.

Army Lt. Alexander Makarous, 27, 548 Fletcher street, Lowell, Mass., of Company I, 29th regiment, captured near Hadong, July 27.

Army Sgt. Takeshi Kumdal of Honolulu, headquarters company, 34th regiment, 24th division, captured July 20 when the Reds took Taejon.

Seventeen Nurses To Korean Hospital

PYONGYANG, Korea, Oct. 20.—(P)—Seventeen U. S. army nurses flew into North Korea today to serve in a hospital at Sariwon, 35 miles south of Pyongyang.

The nurses, of the 803rd mobile army surgical hospital, arrived in Pohang in mid-July with the First Cavalry division. They later were with the 25th division at Chinju.

Among them is Margaret Meyer of Joplin, Mo.

Even Horses Aloof From Escaped Zebra

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Oct. 20.—(P)—A circus zebra escaped yesterday, but couldn't find a friend in all Huntsville—even among the horses.

The striped animal joined a herd of horses grazing in a pasture. The horses broke down a fence and fled.

Patrolman Jerry Breedlove, part of a pursuing crowd, lassoed the fugitive when it wandered into a cattle chute. It submitted tamely.

Kill Prisoners On the March From Seoul

U. S. Soldiers Are Beaten And Slain By Korean Reds

By Tom Lambert

PYONGYANG, Korea, Oct. 20.—(P)—Three nearly starved American prisoners today told a ghastly tale of a "death march" from Seoul to Pyongyang by 283 U. S. soldiers.

Many of their comrades, the bearded trio said, were beaten and murdered by their communist captors. The Reds shrugged their shoulders and said a few more atrocities against them did not matter.

The few survivors, said the liberated prisoners, boosted the American POWs held in Pyongyang to 373. Most of the 373 were moved to the north to an unknown fate as Pyongyang began to totter.

The three said they saw no other Americans in Pyongyang except those they marched with from Seoul.

They said they were told in Seoul that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the U. S. 24th infantry division who disappeared when Taejon fell last July, was in Pyongyang.

But when they arrived here they were told General Dean had died in Seoul. There was no confirmation of this report.

United Nations losses in dead, wounded and captured approach the 25,000 figure.

Were Tortured
Swinging down Stalin street—the Russian-named main street of Pyongyang—the bearded and long haired captives were found by a group of correspondents as the prisoners marched arm in arm with three North Korean students who had befriended them.

The Americans told of buddies being "beaten and murdered" on a torture march from Seoul.

Home Burns on Highway 65

A filling station-residence on north highway 65, near Bothwell lodge, was destroyed by fire shortly after noon today. The fire, it was reported, started from a coal oil stove which overflowed. The building was completely destroyed.

A twelve-year-old girl, who was preparing to cook a meal, is reported to have saved two smaller children from the building. The parents were not at home at the time, according to the report.

Parachutists Drop In Red Korea For A Mopping Up In War

Four Killed at Rail Crossing

LOMAX, Ill., Oct. 20.—(P)—Four men were killed today when their automobile was struck by a Santa Fe railroad passenger train at the outskirts of Lomax.

Coroner Clarence Mellor of Henderson county identified the dead as William Renner, Vernon Halligan and John Heikes, all of Colchester, and Howard Brooks of Adair. He did not have further details.

The accident occurred on an oiled road leading from Lomax to Carmen, north of here in Henderson county.

Labor Rally at The Park Hall

Talks And Special Entertainment on Thursday Night

Five hundred persons attended a labor rally and entertainment sponsored by the Sedalia Shop Federation and Sedalia Federation of Labor at Convention Hall, Liberty Park Thursday night.

Hugh Jones, chairman of the joint committee of Federated crafts and Sedalia Federation of Labor introduced Bruce Grant, president of the American Federation of Radio Artists, who served as master of ceremonies. Performers were: The Cotton Wranglers, Comedian Frank Wizardie, Singers Gene West and Dave Thomas, all of Radio Station WHB.

Father Brunswick Talks

The Rev. Fr. A. J. Brunswick, pastor of Sacred Heart church, explained the reasons for organized labor which stem from the homes of the laborers to their jobs. "The strength of organized labor must be realized and used wisely, must be kept in the hands of representatives of the masses who will work conscientiously for the people they represent," he said.

The Rev. J. Warren Neal, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian church, explained the sacrifices necessary to make organized labor effective. He comes from a family of laborers. His grandfather was a miner, his father a Wabash railroad machinist.

Mayor Offers His Office

Mayor Herb Studer called attention to the fact that he had offered the services of his office to both labor and management to settle the differences between labor and KDRO, local radio station; that the city administration remains neutral as to terms of settlement but would do anything to help settle the strike to the satisfaction of all concerned.

W. J. Donath, president of the Federated Shop Crafts explained the attempts made to settle the dispute. R. J. McVey, president of the Sedalia Federation of Labor, spoke about efforts made and meetings held trying to arrive at an acceptable agreement.

Operator Donates Service

The Sedalia motion picture operators donated the movie projector and James his services as operator to show five shorts. Darwin Scott brought in aerial movies of Sedalia, the air show and of the late Connie Michaels.

Royal Cowger, business representative for the Teamsters' Union, said that all in attendance approved and enjoyed labor gathering to spend an evening together.

"The purpose of the meeting," said Mr. Cowger, "was to explain to the people why labor leaders need their help to settle the radio station dispute, and to give labor an evening's entertainment."

Two Resigned From Selective Service Board

William H. Bunn, chairman of the Pettis county selective service board, and Mayor Herb E. Studer, a member, have both resigned, due to increased duties, Bunn in his business and Studer as mayor.

Their successors must be appointed by President Truman, upon recommendation of Governor Forrest Smith.

Few U. S. Trucks Reach Red China

HONG KONG, Oct. 20.—(P)—Communist China is getting a few U. S. heavy trucks despite the American ban on such shipments.

This was disclosed today when Chinese newspapers reported that "American authorities" had blocked a Communist attempt to import 3,000 trucks through Hong Kong.

U. S. authorities said there was nothing to the story. They said that before the export ban some heavy duty vehicles had been shipped to China through Hong Kong.

Since then, they added, a trickle of heavy duty vehicles was getting through to the communists either through the Portuguese colony of Macao or by transshipment from South America. They declared it was impossible to wipe out such small-time operations.

Severe Setbacks For the French

SAIGON, Indochina, Oct. 20.—(P)—Top western diplomats said today French chances of regaining control of North Indochina border defenses depend upon whether American arms aid can catch up and pass the growing power of the Communist-led Vietnamese rebels.

In a series of disastrous setbacks, French troops have been forced to fall back from scattered mountain and jungle outposts along the Communist China border in the face of freshly strengthened Vietnamese troops.

New French positions are being taken up on the northern rim of the Red river delta, south of the mountain bastion the Reds and their Nationalist supporters control. There, on open terrain before the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong, the French general staff hopes to make its superiority in tanks, planes and artillery count.

Seal Escape Routes

The Americans sealed off two highway and two railroad escape routes. Cruising over the area, General MacArthur puffed on his com cob pipe and told correspondents: (The AP's Tokyo bureau chief, Russell Brines, accompanied MacArthur.)

"Closing the trap should be the end of all organized resistance."

The parachute troops were moving—by that time—toward the towns of Sukchon and Sunchon, 23 miles north of Pyongyang.

"I don't see any opposition," he said. "It looks like it was a complete surprise."

This was the apparent climax of the historic United Nations campaign, born in blood with the June 25 Red invasion of the Korean republic. The Soviet-satellite North Korean regime had fled.

Red Premier Kim Il Sung and his government were believed to be either in far North Korea, Manchuria or Soviet Siberia. Some prisoners said he was in Huichon, 80 miles north of Pyongyang.

After the parachute troops took off for combat General MacArthur landed in Pyongyang at an airstrip in the center of the city.

He ordered Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, the American Eighth Army commander, to send South Korean troops to the Manchurian border as fast as they can move.

Remain in Mopping Up

Staff officers said conclusion of the organized fighting would be followed by an extensive mopping up campaign which will continue until all evidence of resistance is gone.

American troops will remain in Korea until that time. But apparently neither they nor British Commonwealth soldiers will go that far.

The Red capital was practically secure. U.S. First Cavalry Division troops and South Koreans had only a mopping-up job in the bomb-blackened city of 700,000.

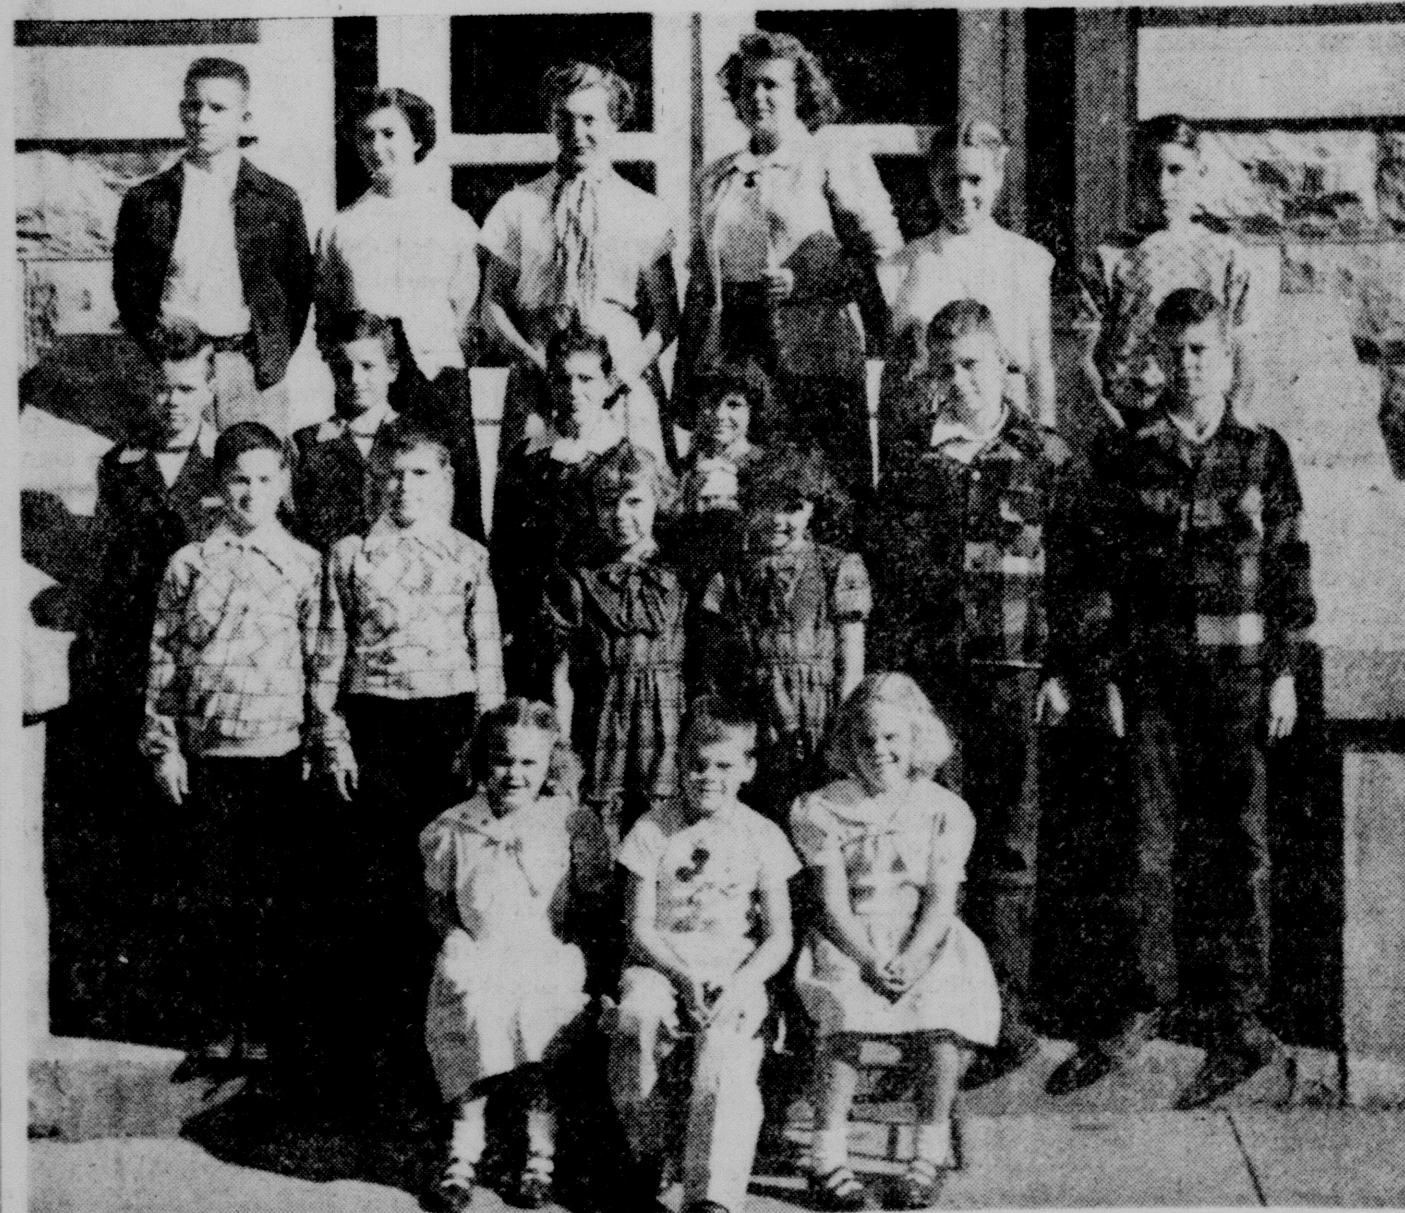

MacArthur has indicated he will keep these troops short of the politically explosive Manchurian and Siberian boundaries.

South Korean forces will operate there, he has indicated, wherever resistance may crop up. The big paratrooper jump at 2 p. m. (12 midnight EST) after a six-hour delay because of bad weather.

Eight Sets of Twins; One of Triplets

A few days ago a St. Louis newspaper carried a picture showing the accumulation of nine sets of twins in one of the schools of that metropolis. The picture was brought to the attention of teachers at Sacred Heart school here, who promptly counted the number of duplicates among their pupils. This is what the Sacred Heart Camera club found in its camera the following morning right here in our own Sedalia!

Third row: Donald and Ronald Franke; Ralph and Rose Moriarty.

They just went the St. Louis school one better, eight sets of twins and a set of triplets.

Candidates Using Their War Service as Political Asset Should Have Records That Bear Scrutiny

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES.—There is a tendency on the part of some candidates in the current election campaign to wave their war service before the voters as a great political asset. When a candidate thus appeals for votes he then automatically invites public scrutiny of his war record.

Such a situation exists in California where candidate Edward Shattuck is played up as a "veteran of two wars" in his race for the important job of attorney general.

The record of Colonel Shattuck happens to be interesting. It is interesting not only to California voters but to every family whose son or husband is being drafted into the armed forces. For Colonel Shattuck occupied a high-up place in the Selective Service office in Washington with its power of life or death over much of the nation.

Yet, while he held this key war post, and was busy drafting others, the record shows that he kept his own public-relations man in California ready to promote and publicize everything he did. In fact, Shattuck had decided even as early as 1941, before Pearl Harbor, that he would use his war job to run for political office.

No scrap of publicity was too meagre for the colonel to overlook if it served to promote his political future.

"We might try for a story in the monthly alumni California magazine," Shattuck wrote his publicity man on July 3, 1941, after he was made general counsel of Selective Service. "And the U.S.C. Alumni News. Stan Barnes could help on California, and Harry Silke on U.S.C. You might also try Los Angeles Jr. Chamber of Commerce Bulletin and perhaps a word to the 20-30 magazine in Sacramento would get an article there.

"Might Give Us a Break"

"It seems to me I recall a California magazine similar to Look which might give us a break. Jim Mussatti might give it a ride in the State Chamber Publicity. I believe that this particular assignment is worth playing for all the publicity we can get. Anywhere there is a good tie-in should be used to the limit.

"The primaries are in August," continued Colonel Shattuck. "If things broke just right and enough publicity went out meantime, this might be an ideal set-up. If things break so that I can run, I will. (At that time he planned to run for governor or lieutenant governor of California.)

"Are there any big conventions coming to Los Angeles where a national-defense speech with emphasis on Selective Service could be made and to which we could wangle an invitation? There might be some American Legion convention, even though only the state convention or some such. Anyway, would you find out? Such an invitation directed to Gen. Lewis B. Hershey especially requesting the hometown boy, would I am sure, bring results. Of course the origin of this suggestion will always remain just between you and me."

Disappointing Results

Meanwhile, Colonel Shattuck was given the job of calling out the numbers with President Roosevelt in the draft lottery, and the nationwide publicity he got made him hungry for more. So he sent word to his publicity agent to get set for another draft drawing on July 17, 1941. Next day his publicity agent reported disappointing results.

"I got your wire stating that you would take the mike for the first fifteen minutes (of the draft lottery) and I then covered the metropolitan papers. They were all set to use the story, but unfortunately the draft lottery was so handled at your end as to completely obliterate your story.

"We did get one break, however, in that on the morning of the drawing I had made arrangements with the radio stations to use your name and fortunately Pat Bishop did so on two broadcasts last night and you were also mentioned on three other stations in newscasts. Other than that there is no reward."

At another draft lottery Mrs. Shattuck wrote a disappointed letter March 13, 1942, to the colonel's publicity man in California.

"There seems to be nothing at all to work on in this next draft thing," Mrs. Shattuck wrote from Washington. "They are cutting down practically all the thrills and frills. Ed just told me to ask you about calling Johnny Cohan on it—maybe a casual plug over the radio would say the name anyway."

Frankie Bombardment

Eventually Colonel Shattuck got bored with Washington and conceived the idea of getting himself transferred back to California as state draft director. On Oct. 5, 1942, he wrote his publicity agent as follows:

"Jim Mussatti (secretary of the California Chamber of Commerce) was here and independently hit on the same idea about Selective Service in California and intends to talk to Earl Warren (then a candidate for governor) about it. If Jim and the business interests were to suggest such a move it would greatly increase the weight behind the suggestion."

However, Governor Olsen appointed another man as state draft director prior to Warren's election, which caused Colonel Shattuck fanatically to write his publicity man.

"This appointment places me in a position where I must keep hands off strictly or I'll be in a jam. What my friends do is their business."

Meanwhile, he kept up a bombardment of letters to his friends urging them to pressure Governor-elect Warren to secure his appointment. Finally, one of these friends, William F. Reichel, wrote Shattuck on Feb. 3, 1943. "I had an opportunity to discuss the matter with Earl Warren on Wednesday. It appears he is very reluctant to remove Leach at the present time unless he has some particular reason. It is, as you understand, a situation in which you cannot play politics."

Lesson on Politics

This really burned up the colonel. He sat down and wrote a letter to his publicity man about politics.

"Bill Reichel said Earl (Warren) felt he could do nothing because someone might think it was politics," Shattuck wrote. "What the hell do they think a governor is—a saint or a political leader?"

"But my friend, be of good cheer; our day is coming. When the war is over we will carry the torch from north to south, east to west, and if I don't miss my guess we won't have to ask anyone for anything. That sounds cocky and conceited, but it isn't. I have had a post-graduate course in politics and a thorough education in public opinion and how to sway it.

"It is imperative that we keep the close goodwill of Earl (Warren) and all his followers," Colonel Shattuck continued. "Now as to my plans. . . . When the war is over I am coming home and spend a little time just looking around and then I'm going to run for governor. If in meantime, a chance came for U.S. Senator I'd take it of course.

"I feel I can go a long way on the veteran-of-two-wars idea."

Judging by the billboards and campaign literature now covering the state of California, Colonel Shattuck is now doing exactly that.

If Ike Wants GOP Nomination, He'll Have to Work For It

By Bruce Bioassat

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's endorsement of General Eisenhower for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination probably has to be regarded as the opening gun in that campaign, even though it's a long way off.

Since Dewey frequently disclaims interest in political office only to reverse himself later, this pronouncement can hardly be taken as his final word on 1952. But certainly it represents his present estimate of his own chances for another GOP nomination at that time.

If circumstances have altered in the interim, it would be no great surprise to learn that the governor had again made himself available. This is not intended to be a caustic judgment of the governor, but only a recognition of the fact that he has the presidential bug and probably won't be rid of it until he's too old to serve. He's not the only man ever to be bitten thus.

Eisenhower promptly denied, as he has many times before in different ways, that he has any presidential ambitions. Those who want him to make the race profess to see in his denials some loopholes through which he could later squeeze should he change his mind.

It may be that the general would be willing to accept the nomination if he were genuinely drafted by the Republicans and thus could enter the political wars free of any entangling alliances.

But the brutal truth is that there have been few real drafts in political history. Getting a nomination is something you work at. If you keep saying you don't want it, a lot of people will take you seriously and look elsewhere. You have to indicate somewhere along the line, privately perhaps at first, that you are really available.

It takes skillful maneuvering, once you've made up your mind to seek the nomination, to line up the delegates you need to win. A half-hearted effort is no effort at all.

So if the general does have any notions lurking in the back of his mind, he must soon decide whether to translate them into a real try or forget them. And he must pass the word to those he wants to help him; the nomination isn't gained without assistance.

There's plenty of evidence Eisenhower could get that aid if he wants it. Dewey has publicly endorsed him and presumably would back him in the convention if he wins the governorship and controls the New York delegation. Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, now bidding for a U. S. Senate seat, is known to look favorably on the general's candidacy.

But even among his backers there's a feeling of uncertainty not alone about his possible intentions but about his political know-how. Some think he's extremely green as a political thinker and fear this would mean he would have to rely too heavily on the advice of others should he plunge in.

However this may be, it is plain that Eisenhower cannot wait more than perhaps another six months to act, behind the scenes at least, if he has any real wish for the presidency. To let matters drag beyond that time would be to make clear that his mind is irrevocably set against a political career unless a draft forces it upon him.

There's a Name For You!

Much of the news from Indo-China these days is pretty bleak. But there has turned up recently in that news an organization which, whatever its merits or demerits, showed extraordinary imagination in the choice of its name.

We speak of the Vietnam Renovation League. This body, which claims seven million members, has as its theme, "throw ALL the rascals out"—French and Communists alike. We suspect there are many areas right here in America that could use the service of a "Renovation League," if for nothing more than to clear the air after this strenuous electioneering season is over.

On second thought, what a name this would be for a civic group to be devoted to the renovation of the Washington bureaucracy.

Prov. 7:7-27

We continue our ladder for youth:

6. Stand on the shoulders of the older group, but don't kick their heads; they're not wooden—at least, not all of them. Wisdom didn't begin with you, and it won't end with you. You will soon belong to the older group; then see that the next generation has a higher vantage point when it stands on your shoulders.

7. Challenge everything, and then challenge yourself to make things better. The only challenge that will be listened to is a demonstration of something better. The protest must not be merely verbal; it must be vital.

8. Don't be impatient if the world doesn't change overnight at your command. Some youth, because they cannot do everything, do nothing. Don't be absolutist—do the next thing, and thus prepare for that greater thing.

9. Don't try to be a leader—be the servant of all and out of that service you will gain leadership as a by-product. Jesus said, "Nor must you be called 'leaders.'" (Matthew 23:10, Moffatt.) The attitude of the leader is: "I lead; you follow"—it is self-assertive and thus cannot be Christianized. Out of that self-assertive mentality all you produce is fussy managers of other people. Besides, given a dozen people in one situation, each of whom wants to be leader, then what? You have the stage set for clash—struggle for place. Jesus said there was one title He could trust us with—"servant;" "the servant of all becomes the greatest of all." As you lose yourself in the service of all, then you will become great by that very self-losing. But note: "servant of all" not the servant of some, your class, your race, your color; no, the servant of all. Then you will become truly great.

10. Be thorough in the small tasks and opportunities—out of these small tasks well done will grow bigger ones. "You have been trusty in charge of a small sum; I will put you in charge of a large sum." (Matthew 25:21, Moffatt.)

God, my Father, I am trying to climb out of unworthiness to worthiness, out of barren criticism to constructive contribution, out of myself into Thee. I cannot do this alone. I need Thee. I am leaning heavily upon Thy strength, depending on Thy resources, drawing on Thy power. Alone, I cannot succeed. Walk with me down the years and I cannot fail. Amen.

The Doctor Says— Exercise and Drugs May Stop Forming of Deadly Blood Clots

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Every once in a while a person who has had an operation and seems to be recovering quite well suddenly develops a frightening condition which is called a pulmonary embolism.

This is a clot which has been carried to one of the blood vessels of the lung from some distant vein elsewhere in the body. Its unexpected appearance several days or weeks after an operation is tragic and alarming.

The original clot, which has broken off and been carried by the blood stream through the heart to one of the arteries going to the lungs, is most commonly formed in the legs or lower abdominal regions. What happens is that the clot loosens and is swept forward by the blood stream.

In some cases of pulmonary embolism is still not too satisfactory, great strides have been made in developing methods of preventing this alarming and dangerous condition. There seems little doubt, for example, that becoming active soon after an operation—early rising it is called—helps to prevent many cases of pulmonary embolism. This keeps the circulation going and prevents stagnation of blood in the veins, so that clots are far less likely to form. If they do form obviously they cannot break off and cause trouble later.

Drugs Are Helpful

In addition, it is now possible to give people who need it certain drugs which slow blood clotting. This often helps in preventing the dangerous clots from forming. In those who do develop a pulmonary embolism, drugs like penicillin can be most useful in preventing the formation of abscesses and other complications. A few patients who have had pulmonary embolism have been saved by removing the clot from the lung by an immediate operation.

Pulmonary embolism is a highly dangerous condition and it is therefore most encouraging to know that so much progress has been made in preventing it. Perhaps the time is not distant when all cases can be prevented and it will no longer be a menace.

HE CAME TO KILL
by ADELINE M'ELFRESH
Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Soon after the arrival of her nephew Peter from New York, aged Aunt Maggie Thorne asks her grandniece Leana to read her new and as yet unsigned will. The document cuts off her two nephews, Peter and Jasper, who were to share the estate, and Jasper's wife Sondra with minor bequests and leaves the bulk of the estate to Roger, Leana's father, also a nephew. Aunt Maggie's sister Agatha is mentioned because "she has her own money." After gloating over the discomfiture of Peter, Jasper and Sondra, Aunt Maggie shows fear in the privacy of her room and tells Leana, "I want you to go for the sheriff."

Mart Preston, now—Resolutely Leana put Deputy Sheriff Martin Preston out of her mind. She was a Thorne, too.

Snatching up her purse and slipping Miss Maggie's proposed new will into it, she went quickly downstairs. The lower floor was dark. Either Peter and the others had gone to their rooms, or they had gone out. Leana hoped it was the latter. She hated to think of leaving two defenseless, terrified old women in the house with Peter Thorne.

Then she didn't have time to think about it. A hand was over her mouth, strong fingers were biting into her throat. . . . Even as she struggled she knew it was no use.

VOICES came out of the thick gray fog and faded again until it seemed Leana had not heard them at all. When they returned they were stronger, more reassuring. She was not dead.

Struggling a little for the equilibrium that seemed to have deserted her, Leana sat up. She was still in the hall, but there were lights now and Peter and Sondra, their faces pale and strained, sat beside the old horsehair sofa on which she lay.

"Someone," Leana told them levelly, "tried to kill me."

"Nonsense, Leana!" Sondra snorted. "You fell down the stairs. Peter and I were in the living room. We heard you."

"You tumbled right down, old girl," Peter Thorne was perfectly calm and very much in possession of the accent that Leana knew now was feigned. "Bumpety-bumpety—"

"Stop it!" Leana cried out, rising unsteadily.

"Tut-tut now, cousin, don't get hysterical." Peter's words were taunting, his thin lips were parted in a mocking smile. "Not after the way you hoodwinked poor Aunt Margaret."

"Peter!" Sondra warned, but he paid no attention.

"I suppose you think I—we—don't know you were running away, Cousin Leana." His suave voice became rough, as though the bearings on which it operated were wearing thin. "I suppose you're going to tell us poor Aunt Margaret gave the will to you—to keep for her!"

"She did."

"Indeed!"

Leana's eyes flew from Peter's accusing face to Sondra's, and back again.

"It's your word, cousin," Peter said shortly, dangerously. "It's your word—alone."

"She's dead," Leana said. It was not a question.

Fear had not yet taken hold; she spoke calmly. Then: "You killed her," she accused.

"I didn't—you did."

"You killed her," Sondra flung at her, too, "because she realized her mistake. Because she wasn't going to make a new will at all, let the old one stand. The one she made long ago, Leana—leaving her money to Jasper and Peter."

Gradually Leana's terror settled down into a throbbing fear in her throat and she could think again.

"Where's Jasper?" she asked.

"Gone after the sheriff." It was Peter who answered. A Peter who was very, very sure of himself now that he was certain to inherit his third of Miss Maggie's estate, after bequests to the servants had been paid. "You cut the telephone wires, didn't you?"

LEANA breathed deeply. Somewhere she had heard that this had a calming effect, but it didn't. She felt their accusation close in around her, choking her just as certainly as those fingers had choked her.

"What time is it?"

"Almost 10:30," Peter replied. "We found you half an hour ago."

"And Miss Maggie," Sondra added meaningfully.

"It wasn't hard, was it, cousin?" Peter asked, his lean, handsome face looking grim. "You must have found it very easy to smother a helpless old woman in her bed."

You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's another of a question-and-answer series that tells how the Korean war affects reservists, veterans, draft-age men, and anyone likely to be called to service. The author, a member of the Washington staff of NEA Service, conducted a widely-read column on "Your GI Rights" in the months following World War II. He will answer questions only in this space, not by mail.)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. Does the Army have any plans afoot for a more liberal policy in granting permanent Army commissions to reserve officers?

A. No.

Q. Are competitive tours of duty the only present means for reserve officers to get permanent commissions.

A. Yes.

Q. Will the cadet nurse training program be resumed soon?

A. There are no plans for it.

Q. I am a reservist with a 20 per cent physical disability for which I am receiving disability compensation from Veterans Administration. Am I receiving disability compensation being recalled service? I understand it would be necessary for me to sign a waiver of my compensation in order for the Army to recall me. Is this true?

A. Some reservists with physical disabilities are being called to active duty. The men cannot receive compensation from the VA while in active service. It is not imperative that he sign a waiver of compensation, but it will facilitate the administrative procedure of resuming compensation payments on his release from active duty if he does.

Q. I am a reserve officer in the Army not assigned to an active unit. Is it possible to resign my commission? Are Army reserve commissions "frozen" or will my commission expire next February if I do not renew it?

A. You cannot resign your commission at this time. And it is frozen.

Q. Two years ago our son was discharged from the Army in order to take care of us. My husband was sick. Since then my boy has found himself a real nice girl and married her. Did he break the law by doing this?

A. Not on the basis of information in your query.

Q—For how long have people worn wedding rings?

A—According to legend, the early Egyptians were the first to adopt the wedding ring to symbolize the taking of vows.

Q—Who coined the expression "hot dog?"

A—An unknown sportswriter nicknamed the wienerwurst sandwich "hot dog," implying humorously that the sausage was made of ground dog meat.

Q—What is the origin of the term "grocer?"

A—The term "grocer" originated as "grosser," a man who dealt in gross quantities of spices, as distinguished from a retailer.

Q—At what age did Verdi compose his last opera?

A—His last opera, "Falstaff," was composed in his 80th year. Many musicians consider it his greatest.

Q—With what Latin American country do we carry on the most trade?

A—Venezuela, with a population of 5 millions, is the United States' best customer in Latin America.

Q—What is the source of congressional immunity for state-ments made in Congress?

A—The Constitution states that for any speech or debate in either House, congressmen shall not be questioned in any other place.

Social Events

At 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, October 17, Miss Shirley Schreck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schreck, became the bride of Charles T. Law, son of Mrs. Aileen Law, of St. Louis.

The Rev. H. J. Breit read the double ring ceremony before the high altar in St. Andrew's Catholic church. The altar was decorated with fall cut flowers, ferns and candles. The mass servers were Vincent Schreck, brother of the bride, and Terry Reibenspies, cousin of the bride. Music was furnished by Sr. M. Thomas as organist assisted by the St. Andrew's school choir.

Miss Gertrude Verlinde, cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor.

Miss Shirley Law, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

Miss Mary Louise Schreck, sister of the bride, and Miss Joyce Knipp, the bride's cousin, were junior bridesmaids.

Miss Hedy Reibenspies, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Edwin Knipp, cousin of the bride, was best man and Kenneth Knipp, another cousin, was groomsmen.

The ushers were Eugene Knipp, Elmer Miller, Billy Bookout and Joe Scott.

The bride chose October 17 as her wedding day because it marked the 57th wedding anniversary of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Knipp, Sr., and the 22nd anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schreck. October 17 is a traditional wedding day in this family, it also being the 29th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller, the fourth for Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Miller and the first for Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bookout. All these couples were married in St. Andrew's Catholic church.

The bride is a graduate of Tipton high school class of '49. Since then she has held employment in the Tipton office of the Missouri Utilities Company.

Mr. Law is supervisor in the I. B. M. office at Scott Field, Ill. He returned from Japan in March of this year.

After a short honeymoon of unknown destination, Mr. and Mrs. Law will reside in St. Louis.

Miss Mary Ann Kuhlman, a student at Fontbonne college, St. Louis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuhlman, 222 East Fourth street, was heard over the radio in a 15-minute program from St. Louis Thursday afternoon. She sang six songs, the program in charge of the vocal teacher at Fontbonne.

Miss Kuhlman, when at home, studies voice with Mrs. Leone Metcalf.

Meeting Of Newcomers Club

Thirty-four members of the Newcomers club met for a dessert luncheon at Bothwell lodge Wednesday afternoon, October 18.

Table decorations were arranged in the fall motif, consisting of hollyhocks and fall leaves.

Following the luncheon Miss Lucy Bothwell gave an interesting talk on the history of the lodge.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. John McCloskey, president of the club.

The nominating committee presented the following names for officers for 1950-51 and they were elected by acclamation: Mrs. Browne Edelen, president; Mrs. Gregory Connor, first vice president; Mrs. J. F. Skolaut, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Brown, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Carlin, treasurer.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in touring the grounds and playing bride and canasta.

Shower Given Recent Bride

Miss Patty Gramlich, of Clifton City, who was married Saturday morning to Mr. Lyle Felton, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening given by Mrs. Hubert Aggeler at her home in Clifton City.

Games were played and awards went to Mrs. Paul Young, Miss Geraldine Schuster and Miss Virginia Felton.

After the bride-elect had opened her gifts the hostess served ice cream and cake to the following: Miss Gramlich, her mother, Mrs. Frank Gramlich and sisters, Mrs. Robert Schuster, Mrs. Herbert Bodenhamer, Miss Louise Stocklein, Mrs. Glen Johnson and Mrs. Francis Schuster and daughters, Geraldine and Joan; Mrs. Daisy Higdon, Mrs. C. A. Higdon, Mrs. A. I. Gramlich, Mrs. Jake Harlan, Mrs. Clarence McMillan, Mrs. John Streis, Mrs. J. S. Needy, Mrs. C. J. Reuter, Mrs. Paul Young, Mrs. John Walz, Mrs. Alex Lorenz, Mrs. J. H. Potter, Mrs. Andrew Gerke, Mrs. William Gerke, Mrs. Lawrence Young, Mrs. Harold Rugen, Mrs. Al Neyhart, Mrs. Essie Holmes, Mrs. George Cross, Miss Imogene Stone, Mrs. Mary Fairfax, Mrs. Oscar Dove, Mrs. A. H. Pabst, Mrs. William Todd, Mrs. Frank Eckerle and daughter, Merlene.

Those who sent gifts, but were unable to attend were: Mrs. Ollie

Eleventh Birthday Was Celebrated

Phoebe Brown, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Brown, was honored guest at a party given at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Robert Butler, of Lincoln, Monday night. The occasion was her 11th birthday anniversary, which was the following day.

The evening was spent playing games and awards were given to Jerry Rank, Fynn Heerman and Wayne Attwood.

Mrs. Butler, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Brown, served refreshments of two birthday cakes, soft drinks and ice cream were served. Favors were suckers and stick candy.

Guests included: Fynn Heerman, Dixie Owens, Betty Sue McCubbin, Beverly Estes, Blanche Roark, Jerry Rank, Wayne Attwood, Lawrence Reine, Leroy Davis, Larry Boring, J. L. Brown, Tommie Butler and Patty Butler, of the home, who also celebrated her fourth birthday Monday and had as her guest that afternoon, Patty Kay Owens. The two girls and Patty's younger brother, Tommie, enjoyed refreshments of cup cakes and ice cream, which was served by her mother.

Celebration of Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Ferguson of near Windsor celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, October 15th.

At the noon hour a dinner was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Ferguson, Gene and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Ferguson and Junior and the honored guests Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Ferguson.

Two decorated cakes were on the table.

The afternoon was spent visiting and taking pictures. Several friends and relatives called and many nice gifts were received.

Flora Mae Harman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob and Isaac Aurelius Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ferguson was married October 17, 1909 at 6:30 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. J. H. Adams of the Windsor Methodist church performed the ceremony and their attendants were D. V. Ferguson and Miss Wayne Daugherty.

They have lived their entire married life on a farm 4 miles southeast of Windsor, which has been the home of Mrs. Ferguson since she was a few months old.

Attend Wedding In Kansas City

Mrs. F. L. Schenk, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schenk, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brim and Mrs. C. E. Terry, all of LaMonte, attended the wedding Saturday night, October 14, of Miss Virginia Quigg and Mr. Jack R. Parsell of Kansas City, which took place at the Country Club Christian church in that city.

Country Club

The regular family dinner will be held Sunday night at the Sedalia Country Club for which reservations must be in by Sunday noon.

Miss Schowe Wed Oct. 14

Miss Shirley Rae Schowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florenz Schowe of Warrenton became the bride of Harold H. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Ferguson of Windsor Saturday afternoon, October 14, at 1:00 o'clock at the Friend's Evangelical church in Warrenton, with Rev. G. A. Roeder performing the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

Mrs. R. J. Dunn, sister of the bride, and Gene Ferguson, brother of the groom, attended the couple.

After the ceremony a dinner was served at the bride's home to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Ferguson, Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Roeder, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dunn and Bobby Joe, of Poplar Bluff, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson and Virginia and Gene of Windsor. Mr. Henry Schowe, grandfather of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Florenz Schowe and Stanley of the home.

The couple is now at home in Windsor at 605 East Benton.

Play Rehearsals Be at Broadway

Meetings and rehearsals of the Sedalia Community Playhouse will in the future be held in the auditorium of Broadway school, it was announced at the regular meeting of the club on Wednesday night. The Playhouse has been meeting at the V.F.W. Hall.

C. E. Alden, treasurer, reported on the financial position of the club after the two-night presentation of "Blithe Spirit," first play of the season. Inasmuch as the budget had not been attained, it was voted to reduce the cost of season tickets pro-rata, and continue the sale until after the second play, "The Philadelphia Story," on December 5 and 6. Mr. Alden was appointed chairman of ticket sales, and named on his committee, Lawrence M. Riley, Scott Webber and Miss Betty Ellsworth.

Miss Marie Fritz was appointed librarian, and asked to keep on file all copies of scripts and playbooks after use in productions. Mike Bogutski was named publicity director, his committee to handle advertising, program preparation, promotion and newspaper publicity. Mrs. William Ward, a member of his committee, was named as reporter.

Appointment of technical personnel for "The Philadelphia Story," by Phillip Barry, was made in part, the chairmen to select their assistants. Chairmen are Mrs. Harold Bamberg, costume director; Mrs. Ed Ringen, properties; W. E. Bruce, stage manager; Mrs. Robert Wall, make-up; Maurice F. Hogan, set design, and Lawrence M. Riley, technical director.

New members Harold Barrick, William B. Coughig and Miss Beverly Coughig were presented. Following the meeting, Mrs. Otis Wiley, assistant director, held rehearsal of "The Philadelphia Story," and announced that the cast would meet again Friday night at Broadway school.

from Seoul in late September and early October.

Only a few stray shots echoed in the rubble streets of the former Red Korean capital tonight as American and South Korean troops moved into the city proper to complete its occupation.

The finish of the occupation was accomplished against only light opposition.

The Reds abandoned their capital, politically and militarily, practically without a fight.

The handful of communist troops left behind were surrendering singly or in groups.

The three Americans had hidden under a school and had been fed by the three students.

They came out today as the city fell to American and South Korean troops.

The trio said the Red Koreans told them they were being moved from Seoul to Pyongyang for "safety."

Plead For Attention
Captain Locke said he pleaded with North Korean officials not to move the men and to give medical attention to the wounded.

The airman said the North Koreans replied:

"We already got enough atrocities listed against us so a few more won't make any difference."

Captain Locke said that during the death march Americans "died like flies from starvation, cold, pneumonia and dysentery."

Seventeen in the group were wounded when an American plane strafed their column, obviously mistaking them for Reds.

The three survived because they had hidden under the school. They said others of the group were marched north as the United Nations forces approached Pyongyang. Their fate was not known.

On the trudge from Seoul to Pyongyang, the trio said the Reds shot those Americans who could not walk.

Said one:

"Some of the men were carrying their buddies on their backs. Guys who fell down were beaten and bayoneted by the Red guards."

Captain Locke said the guards killed those Americans who could not continue marching.

Kumda said the North Korean guards told him earlier the Americans were to be taken to Nam-pojin, which is located along the Yalu river on the Korean-Manchurian border.

The three survivors seemed to be in fair physical condition. They said they were in better shape than any of the Americans who were marched out of here Saturday.

First thing the three asked for was sugar — or anything sweet. The ate heartily of army ration jelly and cookies.

They gulped army ration spaghetti and hamburger.

Since their capture they had lived on scant rations of rice and water plus food given them by civilians who visited the school.

All three accused the North Koreans of starving American prisoners and failing to give them necessary medical treatment.

Captain Locke said 373 Americans were moved out of Seoul on Sept. 20 as the Americans advanced on the city. He said many of the prisoners were suffering from hunger.

The American prisoners could hear artillery fire and "knew something was up" but did not know of the Sept. 15 landing at Inchon by allied forces.

Macaroumis, a "bewhiskered giant in tattered clothing, said he saw the North Koreans shoot and kill one of the American prisoners on the trek to Pyongyang.

He added he was beaten by communist civilians.

Captain Locke said he was struck and kicked a few times. Kumda said the Reds killed his lieutenant.

The three Americans said the Reds refused to allow any of the allocated and sometimes must be spread too thinly for most effective local program.

Here in the Lake of the Ozarks Council, which includes eleven central Missouri counties, over $2,000 is required each year for scout camping activities alone in addition to what the boys pay. To coordinate and keep the program alive requires employed help.

This council's paid personnel includes an executive, two field executives and two stenographers. Other expenses include office supplies and materials, postage, transportation and national quota and charter fees.

The 1951 budgetary need for the Lake of the Ozarks Council is $31,675, an increase of $3,710 over 1949 necessary to take care of a rapidly growing program. The council plans to hire a new field executive and another office clerk.

The total membership of the council has increased more than 20 per cent since 1949 and at the same time much more emphasis is being placed on scouting activities such as camporees, circuses, and training courses for adult leaders. This increase in activities is reflected in an almost phenomenal number of award of advancement presented to Scouts last year.

The Scouting program justifies itself many times and in many ways, especially today when the times make it necessary to do everything we can in the character training of our youth, for that will determine not only the future but the fate of our country.

Contributions to the Community Chest this month are, among other things, a contribution to help further this advancing scouting program.

marchers to take blankets or bedding from Seoul.

Set Afire With Gasoline

SEOUL, Oct. 20 — (AP) — Eighty Korean political prisoners — both men and women — were set afire with burning gasoline by retreating Communists at Koksan, 50 air miles southeast of Pyongyang, the commander of the South Korean army disclosed today.

Maj. Gen. Chung Il Kwon said he had never seen such an "unspeakable atrocity." He visited Koksan yesterday during a front line inspection of the Republican Record Army corps.

He said the Korean Reds jailed the men and women in a warehouse near the Koksan police station and set it afire with gasoline.

The families of the victims were crying with "agonized faces and hurting hearts," Gen. Chung

'Quints' at New York 'Stole Show'

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 — (AP) — Canada's Dionne quintuplets — in clear, sweet voice — last night stole the show from some mighty important folks.

Vice President Alben W. Barkley was the main speaker at the sixth annual Alfred E. Smith memorial dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

But the quintuplets were the main attraction.

With some of their high school classmates, they sang six songs.

Among them was the late Al Smith's favorite, "The Sidewalks of New York," and the 16-year old girls gave it the works both in French and English.

It drew heavy applause.

They made their first trip to New York especially for the dinner at which funds are raised for non-denominational charitable works in the name of Smith, one-time governor of New York.

The five famous girls — Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie and Yvonne — were dressed alike in blue taffeta evening gowns and white capes.

Besides Barkley, they took the spotlight away from such guests as Francis Cardinal Spellman, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, U.S. Senator Herbert Lehman, U.S. Ambassador to Mexico William O'Dwyer, and Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

Declares Prices To Continue Upward

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 20. — (AP) — Prices can be expected to continue upward until June, 1952, Dr. O. R. Johnson, professor of economics at the University of Missouri, told members of the St. Joseph Production Credit Association yesterday.

He said the present price index probably will advance 20 per cent before a leveling off can be noted. Dr. Johnson cautioned that economy of operation alone can insure agricultural profits.

Admitted to Mercy Hospital

Three Sedalia children were admitted to Children's Mercy hospital in Kansas City. Famous Poetess Died Thursday

AUSTERLITZ, N. Y., Oct. 20—(P)—Poetess Edna St. Vincent Millay was found dead at her home here Thursday. She was 58.

Dr. Oscar Wilcox said she died of a heart attack. Her body was found at the foot of the stairs in her home in this eastern New York community.

Dr. Wilcox said he believed the attack caused her to fall down stairs. The body was found by James Pinnie, a caretaker at her home, where she lived alone.

In 1923 she was awarded the Pulitzer prize for verse for her "The Ballad of the Harp-Weaver."

Miss Millay, best known for her poem "Renascence," moved here 22 years ago from New York City with her husband, Eugene Jan Boissevain. He died about a year ago.

Miss Millay, who has been a poet since childhood, was one of the most popular of her time. Her books were best sellers and collectors' items.

Friends in New York said Miss Millay was working on a new book of poetry at the time of her death.

She was still a student of 19 when her first major published poem, "Renascence," appeared in 1912. In the ensuing years she became a pre-eminent figure in New York's Greenwich village—the home at one time or another of many outstanding artists, writers, poets.

Highway Patrol Digs Up Clue In Murder Case
FESTUS, Mo., Oct. 20—(P)—A fingerprint on a candy jar. Will it trap the killer?

It's an important clue, says the state highway patrol and Jefferson county authorities who are investigating the death of Mrs. Lewis Lucas.

The 48-year-old housewife was shot in the neck Wednesday by an intruder when she flipped on the kitchen light to investigate a noise. Her husband, a real estate dealer, was talking on the telephone in the front hall when the shooting occurred.

Police Chief Carl Mezo of Festus said today the fingerprint was on an overturned jar found on the kitchen floor. The jar contained peppermint candy.

The print is being developed by highway troopers in Jefferson City.

Mezo said a check of stores in the Festus area disclosed that none handled that particular brand of candy. Lucas said the candy did not belong to the family.

Plans were made for a social November 4. The meeting was closed with a poem and the club collect.

Meet by M. P. Women's Club

The Missouri Pacific Women's club of Sedalia met Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the St. Patrick's school hall with Mrs. Frank Hannigan, president, presiding.

Approximately 60 were present with members and guests.

Topics discussed were a contribution to be given to the Community Chest and the Red Cross Home Nursing course to be given soon at the Elks Club.

Following the business meeting a social meeting was held with Mrs. F. G. Mock, chairman of the membership in charge.

Mrs. T. E. Gasperson, accompanied by Mrs. Nellie Monegan, sang several numbers and Mrs. Gasperson then gave a humorous reading, "The Covered Dish Luncheon."

A minstrel show was given by the following members, Mrs. Helen Jesse, Mrs. Clelia Hawley, Mrs. Ruth Thomas, Mrs. Minnie Earhart, Mrs. Nadine Reed, Mrs. Josephine Mock, Mrs. Marie Dabner and Mrs. Lydia Ulmer.

Refreshments in keeping with Halloween were served.

The ancient Greek physician Hippocrates prescribed mustard as a medicine.

The U. S. produces about 11,500,000,000 pounds of fats and oils annually.

Acorns found on Guadalupe Island, of Mexico's west coast, are two inches in diameter.

There were three visitors present, Mrs. Lee Thornleigh, Mrs. Frank Stocklein and Mrs. Charles Sleeper, the latter becoming a member of the club.

A contributed dinner was served after which members embroidered lunch cloths and tea towels.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Duward Edwards, one mile and a half north of Dresden, on November 8.

Make Inspection On Sanitation

City Sanitation Officer, Willis Jabas, Louis S. Payton, District Public Health Engineer, made an investigation at the residence of a middle-aged woman early Thursday morning after receiving a complaint of unsanitary condition existing in the woman's residence.

After visiting the home, they found the complaint well founded.

There were two mongrel dogs living in the same room with the woman and a very unsanitary condition was existing. "It was apparent," said Jabas, "that the dogs were never released from the house." One was tied with a rope to a large chair.

The dogs were infested with mange and in poor physical condition.

Jabas and City Scavenger, Bill Hatfield returned to the residence later in the day and informed the woman that the conditions would have to be improved. The dogs were taken to the City Pound where they were cleaned up. Jabas said he intended to make another inspection.

Finds Sister He Believed Dead For Years

Mrs. Herbert Hansen
Ellis Taylor, 61, general manager of a canning factory at Walla Walla, Wash., and Mrs. Taylor who have spent a month's vacation trip in the western and central states, stopped recently at the Lake of the Ozarks town of Warsaw, the community in which Mr. Taylor and a sister, Mrs. Fred Foster, 63, were born and reared.

Mr. Taylor believed his sister dead, but stopped to make inquiries as to the whereabouts of her children. He was surprised and pleased when informed that his sister and her husband were both living and now resided at their home in Lincoln, Mo., a distance of only about 12 miles.

Mr. Foster was alone when they arrived at his home. Mrs. Foster having left the previous Sunday to spend the week with their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Bob McFarland and infant daughter, in Kansas City.

Driver Dies at Wheel From a Heart Attack

OAK GROVE, Mo., Oct. 20—(AP)—A man collapsed and died of a heart attack at the wheel of a speeding automobile near here on Thursday. Quick action of his companion prevented the machine from going out of control.

Harlen T. Lynch, about 38, St. Louis, suffered a fatal attack while driving on U. S. Highway 40 just east of here.

Lee J. Sloan, 52, also of St. Louis, seized the wheel as the car veered to the highway shoulder, and stopped the machine by switching off the ignition.

Sloan's brother, T. Virgil Sloan, 45, was in the rear seat of the car. The brothers operate a moving and storage company in St. Louis, and Lynch was a salesman employed by the firm.

Truman Grows At Newspapermen

By The Associated Press
At Thursday's presidential news conference, Edward A. Harris of the St. Louis Post Dispatch asked Mr. Truman: "Are you in complete agreement with Gen. MacArthur on Formosa?"

Let me tell you something that will be good for your soul, Mr. Truman shot back hotly. It's a pity that you columnists and reporters that represent a certain press service can't understand the idea of two intellectually honest men when they meet.

Harris later said he was rather taken aback by the President's reply, since his paper is in accord with the administration's policy toward Formosa. He said he believed the President had correspondents for other news media in mind in replying.

Later White House officials made plain that it was not the Post Dispatch Mr. Truman had in mind. They also said his remarks did not refer to the Associated Press.

Says Shenker is 'Democratic Boss'

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—(P)—St. Louis Republicans say William Shenker, the city's busiest criminal lawyer, is the "new Democratic boss of St. Louis."

The Republicans have launched an all-out campaign against Shenker with a four-page pamphlet entitled "Stop Morris Shenker." About 250,000 copies of the pamphlet are being mailed out.

Shenker is not a candidate for office. But the Republicans say that the lawyer and Sheriff Thomas F. Callahan, also active in Democratic politics here, hand picked seven of the Democratic candidates for city offices.

In the pamphlet, the Republicans claim Shenker controls Pioneer News Service, which distributes horse racing information, and that Shenker arranged for William Molasky, head of Pioneer, to contribute $2,500 to Gov. Forrest Smith's 1948 campaign fund.

An offer for an appointment to the Democratic national finance committee brought Shenker national headline attention a few weeks ago. He turned down the job offer.

The pamphlet makes no mention of U. S. Sen. Forrest C. Donnell, the state's No. 1 GOP candidate in the November general election. A news release accompanying the pamphlet state local Republicans are making a campaign independent from the one being staged by Donnell.

New Warnings Of Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 20.—(P)—New hurricane warnings were hoisted along the Florida west coast today from Fort Myers to Cedar Key, and storm warnings flew elsewhere over the entire Florida peninsula.

The second hurricane of the week was bearing down on Florida, this one from the gulf of Mexico. It contained winds of about 90 miles an hour with higher gusts.

A violent hurricane swept from the Atlantic over Miami late Tuesday and early Wednesday with 125-mile winds. It killed three persons, injured about 100, inflicted damage of $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 and left about 250 persons homeless, mostly in the Miami-Fort Lauderdale areas.

Abandon Hope For H. L. Mencken

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20.—(P)—The condition of H. L. Mencken became worse last night for the second night in a row, his physician at Johns Hopkins university said today.

The 70-year-old newspaperman, author and critic has been near death since a severe heart attack a week ago yesterday.

Dr. Philip E. Wagley said Mencken was "more critically ill" than yesterday.

Doctors have abandoned hope that the noted "sage of Baltimore" will live.

State Flag May Ride on a Tank

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 20.—(P)—If things work out, the state flag of Missouri will be riding a sea-going marine tank in Korea.

Gov. Forrest Smith said today he was sending a state flag—a good one that had been used at the executive mansion—to Marine Pfc. Louis P. Price, a crew member of the tank.

Price, who did not give his Missouri address, sent the governor an airmail letter asking for the flag to decorate his tank. It boasts an all-Missouri crew but Price did not name the other crew members. He said he didn't know anyone who could get the flag for him unless it was the governor.

"Please let me know whether or not you can help x x x. Things are going to start popping over here soon and we would like to carry this flag into battle with us," Price wrote.

The flag is four feet wide and six feet long, the governor said, adding that if Price thought it was so important, the governor would figure the request should be tended to at once. He said he would send the flag the quickest way.

Suit Alleges Price Fixing

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 20.—(P)—Attorney General J. E. Taylor asked the Missouri Supreme court today to crack down on the alleged price-fixing of four Springfield distributors of butane or propane gas.

He charged the companies conspired to fix prices for those liquid fuels, to raise the prices in some instances and to cut them below cost in certain areas to drive out competition.

He asked that they be barred from further business in Missouri or be fined and stopped from the alleged price-setting practices. In the form of quo warranto, it would force the companies to prove they were operating legally.

It was another in the continuing series of Taylor's "trust-busting" actions which already have brought well over $100,000 in fines to the state treasury.

The suit names Missouri Hydro Gas Company, Inc., Whipple and Monroe Gas, Inc., Pyrogas Company and Midwest Gas Service Company, all with central offices in Springfield.

He charged the four companies conspired to fix the price of those fuels in their operating area and generally set the price at a higher level than in other areas.

But the price was cut in some instances, the suit said, in order to force out of business a Lebanon company, Propane Gas and Appliance Company, Inc.

Undercutting the Lebanon company's prices has been practiced by the four Springfield concerns since Sept. 30 this year, the suit alleged.

Waldo P. Johnson, Taylor's first assistant, has been handling the case as head of Taylor's anti-trust division.

Hayden Guilty In Tax Evasion

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20.—(P)—Samuel C. Hayden, former assistant prosecuting attorney of Jackson county, today pleaded guilty to a charge of evading federal income taxes for 1948.

His action came after Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves had refused to accept a plea of nolo contendere (no contest). The defendant, who previously had pleaded innocent, was to have gone to trial Monday.

Judge Reeves deferred sentence until Nov. 3.

The 49-year-old former county official was indicted by a federal grand jury last May 22. He was charged with evading a tax payment of $1,023.

Hayden was named last April in a grand jury interim report as the partner in a gambling enterprise. He was discharged immediately by Henry R. Fox, the prosecutor.

Sedalia Chapter No. 37, O. E. S. will meet in regular session Tuesday evening, Oct. 24 at 7:30 o'clock. Honoring Sister Viola W. Coffman (Grand Esther) at a six o'clock dinner at the First Methodist church. Reservations for the dinner must be in by Saturday. Call 2342.

Reappoint Fiske On Police Board

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 20.—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith re-appointed George Fiske, Republican, to a four year term on the Kansas City board of police commissioners today.

It was Fiske the Governor chose last May 2 to succeed Hampton S. Chambers after he "removed" Chambers from the embattled police board. Chambers and R. Robert Cohn had refused to resign from the board at the Governor's request. They said they had done a good job and would not quit.

The Governor fired them because the whole police department operation in Missouri's second city had been under criticism following the April 5 gangland slayings of Charles Binaggio, Democratic factional leader and Smith supporter, and Binaggio's "enforcer," Charles Gargotta.

He charged the four companies conspired to fix the price of those fuels in their operating area and generally set the price at a higher level than in other areas.

But the price was cut in some instances, the suit said, in order to force out of business a Lebanon company, Propane Gas and Appliance Company, Inc.

High Bonds in Swindle Case

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 20.—(P)—Two men accused of attempting to swindle a Missouri postmaster out of $30,000, were under high bonds today.

They were George Wharton, 24, and Jack Douglas, 48, arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation agents while they were waiting for Joe Souttee of Marionville, Mo., to turn over the money to them.

At their arraignment, U. S. Commissioner W. Madden Hill set the bond at $5,000 for Douglas and $4,000 for Wharton. Neither was able to post bond.

Souttee testified at the hearing how the pair almost cheated him out of $30,000 in a race horse confidence game. FBI men advised the unsuspecting Souttee of the alleged swindle an hour before he was to turn the money over to Douglas and Wharton.

The Missouri postmaster said he had withdrawn $30,000 in government bonds from a bank at Aurora to help cover a check to show race track officials. He said Douglas told him he would share in $301,000 he had won at the track.

Bond for the pair was set high on recommendation of U. S. District Attorney Frank Potter.

"Douglas had a record all over the country as a con man," he said. "We don't want him out of here free to take money away from these people."

REA Loans For Mo. $10,121,954

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(P)—Rural Electrification Administration announced today state allocations of $141,786,750 available for loans to REA groups for expansion of rural power systems during the year ending next June 30.

The agency said it also has available an additional $170,927,029 that may be loaned to any qualified REA borrowers.

The amounts set aside for loans in each state include: Arkansas $6,070,920; Missouri $10,121,954.

Transfer Made Of Prisoners

PYONGYANG, Oct. 20.—(P)—American and South Korean war prisoners were reported today to have been transferred by rail to the extreme northwest corner of Red Korea.

A South Korean civilian said his brother worked on the railway which took the United Nations troops northward.

American forces, which drove into Pyongyang Thursday, had hoped to rescue many Americans held by the Reds.

The civilian informant said the war prisoners were taken to the towns of Anji, Lajin and Ungi. He had no information on the missing Maj. Gen. William F. Dean of Berkeley, Calif., U. S. 24th infantry division commander who disappeared after the fall of Taejon last July.

Sales Up For Department Stores

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—(P)—Department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve district last week were seven percent higher than last year, the Federal Reserve bank reported today.

Louisville, Ky., showed sales up 19 percent and Memphis, Tenn., registered a 14 percent gain. St. Louis and smaller shopping centers registered an eight percent gain while Little Rock, Ark., showed a 14 percent decline. Little Rock's decline was attributed to a difference in timing of special sales.

Cumulative sales for 1950 in the district are five per cent larger than in 1949, the report said.

Gets Box of Figs Grown in State

Rev. Roy Bowers, pastor of the First Methodist church, brought to the Democrat-Capital news room today a ripe fig grown on a tree in his mother's yard at Jasper, Mo.

The tree is Mr. Bowers' pride and joy because he dug up the sprout while on a visit to North Carolina about four years ago, carried it in the trunk of his car all the way on a trip to the coast and back and finally had to figure out a place to plant it. Being a Methodist preacher he knew that he would not be permanently located anywhere so he took it to his mother, Mrs. J. R. Bowers, in Jasper and set it out in her yard.

He had a real struggle with that little sprout that he had looked at longingly among the fig trees of a friend in North Carolina and was told to dig up and take it if he wanted to. He did want to and he wrapped it in burlap and watered it well as he put it in the trunk of his car to continue his trip. His wife wasn't so sold on the idea. Each time he got out and watered it on the trip, she insisted that the little sprout would not survive the trip and wouldn't grow if planted.

But there is a certain challenge in growing things—especially something that isn't supposed to grow in your part of the country—and Mr. Bowers worked to keep the little sprout alive until he reached his mother's home. There he planted it proudly and waited for it to grow. And it did grow. Last year it had several figs on it. This year it has grown to about six feet in height and has lots and lots of figs. It is always given some winter protection.

When a box from his mother arrived this morning Mrs. Bowers knew what was in it even before he opened it—ripe figs from his mother. Figs grown on his own little fig tree.

Gaitskell to Post of Cripps

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(P)—Youthful Hugh Gaitskell flew home today to take over the toughest job in Britain: Guiding the nation's economic future. He held out little hope to Britons for a relaxation of belt tightening austerity.

Gaitskell, 44, took over the job of chancellor of the exchequer—boss of Britain's ailing czar of austerity. Prime Minister Attlee decided to name Gaitskell, who was Cripps' deputy, over the heads of the heads of several cabinet ministers who might have expected the important post.

Back from a trip to the United States and Canada, where he has been discussing Britain's financial position, Gaitskell told a news conference at the airport the talks were "extremely useful." The discussions were believed to concern dollar aid Britain may receive to step up her armament drive, as well as relationship of Britain's currency with Canadian and American dollars.

Given Life Term Over Robbery

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—(P)—Kenneth L. Morris, downed by a flying tackle after he accosted a football player and his girl friend, was sentenced to life imprisonment by a Circuit Court jury last night.

Morris, 28, who had served three prison terms, was tried under the habitual criminal act for robbery. The state had asked for the death penalty.

"You have been very fair," Morris told the jurors after hearing the verdict.

Morris admitted he held up James Grieg, Washington University football player, and Miss Charlotte Obst, 1948 homecoming queen at the university, when he found them in a parked car in a park last February.

Although Morris was armed with a pistol, Grieg downed him with a flying tackle when the ex-convict grappled with Miss Obst. The football player then disarmed Morris and hauled him to a police station in the trunk of the car.

Helicopter Wins New Role in Modern Warfare And More Are Ordered After Korean Results

Windmill Goes Up Front: For the first time in any war, the helicopter went to work on the battlefronts of Korea — and won itself a new role. Here's a Marine 'copter takes off over the heads of First Marine division troops to fly over the enemy lines and report positions.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The "flying windmill" has won itself a new and vital role in modern warfare as the result of its stellar performance in Korea.

Rush orders for more than 500 new helicopters of various types, costing about $100 million, have been placed by the armed forces. Only the limited capacity of the helicopter industry, which had turned out 1100 of them prior to Korea, is keeping the services from ordering more.

Numerous important missions have been found ideally suited to the up-and-down aircraft. Most dramatic has been the fast evacuation of wounded from the front lines. It has kept the death rate among battle casualties at a record low.

The 'copter has proved an invaluable tactical tool in combat for directing artillery fire, directing fighter planes to ground targets and general reconnaissance. It furnishes ground troops amazing new mobility by dropping men on strategic hill-tops, behind enemy lines or at any spot difficult or impossible to reach by ground.

On the seas around Korea the helicopter added to its already established importance in all kinds of rescue work.

Newest use is in the location and destruction of the deadly floating mines which threaten UN shipping and have already killed many Americans.

The helicopter patrols the water where a mine is reported. A man with a rifle rides along. When the mine is spotted a rifle shot is all that is needed to detonate it.

Most credit must go to the marines for pushing the use of helicopters for every purpose since World War II. The first combat tests have proved the possibilities which the leathernecks saw in the flying windmill. However, the big interest of the marines in the helicopter is for moving assault troops. Marine orders, as a result, are mostly for the big Piasecki "flying bananas."

Army's interest is in both the small Bell models for liaison and the big jobs for moving troops and wounded. Army orders call for 80 Bell H-13s, which carry three passengers and are equipped with skids, and 70 10-place H-19 helicopters.

No helicopters were used in combat during World War II to any significant degree. Until they proved their sturdiness in Korea it was feared they would be very vulnerable to enemy fire, and dangerous to fly. However, only one Navy pilot has been killed in a helicopter accident in Korea. And there is much proof of their ability to "take it."

One helicopter which had been evacuating wounded landed with 50 bullet holes in it and was still able to fly.

Another false belief was that the helicopter was too difficult to maintain to be of any use in a combat area. The marines have answered that by doing all maintenance and repair at night.

The helicopters now in use in Korea are practically all obsolete, even though they have done an outstanding job. The ones on order will be more stable, easier to fly and sturdier. The bigger, faster new ones will be able to fly in the neighborhood of 150 mph with a range of 400 miles and be able to stay in the air up to six hours.

And there are helicopters with even better performances in the secret stage of development. Also in the works is a tiny helicopter, which will be considered expendable which would take the place of the parachute in landing airborne troops.

Hal Boyle COLUMN

By Tom Lambert
(For Hal Boyle)

WITH U.S. FORCES IN RED KOREA — (P) — It was a quiet sunny afternoon.

An autumn breeze tugged at scrawny bolls of cotton in the fields. Dry brown cornstalks crackled like tin.

Jeeps chugged lazily along the road. Dust clouds drifted skywards in their wake.

It was one of those brief, bright respites in war—a time for planning the next move. And the U.S. Cavalry Division's Seventh Regiment—famed since the days of General Custer—was hatching an attack.

Lt. Col. William Harris of San Antonio, Tex., a slight blonde who walks and talks softly, outlined the plan.

A platoon of tanks carrying infantry would rumble north to the walled city of Namchonjom and prove its defenses. If they were weak the city would be occupied. If they were strong more tanks and men would move north.

The order went to battalion commander Lt. Col. Gilmon Huff of Greenville, S.C., a great, red-haired man "AWOL" from the medics, whose right arm is in a sling because of a recent shoulder wound.

Abruptly, the compound hummed with activity. Tankers churned their Shermans and Pershings into position. Impassive infantrymen clambered aboard. The tanks rumbled out. Jeeps chugged along behind.

Dust from the column rose swiftly. In a few minutes the tanks and Jeeps were out of sight. But not out of hearing.

In the command post yard, a Jeep's radio crackled. The tank liaison officer, Lt. Warren Allen of Ord, Neb., barked into his microphone, "Give me your position."

The reply: "Going through Namchun, shooting, no return fire."

Allen relayed the report to Huff. "What about air on Namchonjom?" Huff asked.

He turned to another Jeep. Lt. Jon Robertson of Akron, Ohio, an F-80 pilot on ground liaison duty, outlined the air situation:

"F-51s working over the town now and F-80s comin' in."

Huff nodded, satisfied. The jets called in. "On station," Robertson's radio crackled. "At 18,000 feet. What's the target?"

"Wait a minute," called Robertson. "I can't see you. Come down a little and wait a minute. The 51s are working now."

Then he called off the 51s—they can stay in the area longer than the fuel hungry jets.

The F-80s went to work, flashing quick and silvery in the sun, building a tower of smoke.

Allen's Jeep radio snapped again. The tanks were outside Namchonjom and waiting for the air strike on the town.

"Tell 'em it's on," Robertson advised Allen.

"Tell 'em to look," Huff added. There was silence for a moment. Then Allen's radio crackled again. But there was interference

Sedalian in Air Police Patrol

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Oct. 19.—Prevention of sabotage and protection against attack on United States Air Force bases will be increased with the graduation Saturday, October 21, of a new class of Security Patrol Air Police, including a number of airmen from Missouri.

now and the voice was not clear. Overhead the jets streaked south from the target.

"The 51s say the tanks are on the outskirts of the town," reported Robertson. Allen marked a cross on his map.

Huff was suddenly agitated. "Don't let those airplanes hit that town and those tanks," he ordered. "Call 'em off."

Robertson grinned. "Too much air power." Then he told the 51s to move north and hit another town. The 51s "rogered" their okay.

The way was clear now for the tanks and cavalrymen to move into Namchonjom—another milepost on the Red road to Pyongyang.

Missouri residents in the graduating class includes:

Pfc. Dale Ruffin, son of Homer R. Ruffin, 514 East Thirteenth street, Sedalia, and Pfc. William T. Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Berry, 812 West Fourth street, Sedalia.

For the last four weeks these airmen, most of whom came here directly from basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, have been undergoing a rigid course of instruction at Tyndall Air Force Base, near here, commanded by Col. James Roberts, with training under the supervision of Colonel Kenneth Johnson.

The intensive instruction has included training in the use of weapons, field exercises, security patrol, and many other phases of police work that will insure protection of U.S. aircraft and air bases against enemy agents. This Air Police School is one of the most highly specialized courses of the approximately 150 types of schools in the vast Air Force educational system administered by Major General Robert W.

Harper, commanding general of the Air Training Command.

CRIMP IN HOUSING BOOM—

The government's new Regulation X, imposing stiffer credit regulations on home mortgages, is aimed at cutting home building from the record high of an estimated 1,300,000 units in 1950 to "not more than 800,000 units" in 1951. Actually, many builders fear the new credit restrictions may reduce the number of houses built far more than that, but the government has the power to ease mortgage terms if Regulation X puts too big a crimp in the housing boom.

'Heil' Leads to Jail

BERLIN—(P)—A West Berlin court recently convicted Erich Waltbach, 51, on a morals charge, and gave him a one-year suspended sentence. When the judge told him he could go home now, Waltbach gave the Nazi salute and shouted "Heil Hitler."

The court changed its mind then and let Waltbach stay in jail for three more days, for contempt of court.

Tiger Stars Ready For The Kewpies

Tonight at Columbia In Another CEMO Conference Contest

Tonight the Smith-Cotton Tigers will journey to Columbia to meet the Hickman Kewpies in a game that should decide the C. E. M. C. conference race. If the S-C attack functions in the game in the same manner it has in the past four, the Kewpies will have to put the shackles on two men, or suffer their second loss of the season.

These two men who bear the brunt of the Smith-Cotton running attack are high-spirited Don Pummill and rangy pile-driving fullback Art Conley. Both of these boys are familiar to the Kewpies since each has played on Tiger teams that have defeated the Columbians. Both were members of last year's conference champion team and Show-Me-Bowl champs. Pummill also played on the 1948 title winners as a reserve.

Don Pummill

Pummill Power Runner

Pummill, a 16-year-old senior, is strictly a power runner. He stated on last year's S-C eleven and tallied 32 points for the season. To date he has registered four TDs in the Bengals' four games. He plays the left half slot when the Dow-men shift into the T, and the tailback spot on the basic Tiger offense, the single wing. As a power runner he prefers the single wing which fits him perfectly to Dow's backfield.

Don was definitely handicapped last year when he received a head injury in the Kemper game. Thereafter he was knocked out six times and was not able to play in the Show-Me-Bowl game against these same Kewpies. Pummill, who stands five feet eight inches and weighs 152 lbs. knows about every position on a football eleven. In junior high school he played the line, shifting to the backfield his sophomore year and lettering. He also has earned two letters in track and placed in the conference hurdles his sophomore year. Smith-Cotton did not participate in the cinder sport last year.

On Student Council

In service toward the school he has served on the student council five years and is the council reporter this year.

Don is not the flashy type ball player but is full of spirit and fight, which makes him one of the top backs in the CEMO. When the Tigers lack a few yards for a first down it is usually Pummill who gets the call to carry the ball with his terrific plunges.

Moose Team to Play Green Ridge

The Sedalia Moose basketball team will play the Green Ridge Rams at Green Ridge tonight at 8:00 o'clock. This will be the first game of the season for either team. Members of the Moose team are to meet at the Smoke House at 7:00 o'clock.

mill who gets the call to carry the ball with his terrific plunges. His teammates have a lot of confidence in him since he has pulled them through many tight spots and sparked them on to a score. Such as this he did at Jeff City against the Saints in the third period when the lads from S-C were trailing 6 to 2 and went on to beat the Saints 8-6.

Art Conley

Conley a "Ball of Fire"

Conley is the type player who runs in streaks. Sometimes he has a hard time picking up excess yardage, but on other occasions he is a ball of fire, reeling off consistent runs that range from one yard to the length of the goal, whatever distance it may be.

In the Kemper game Pummill was definitely the Tiger spark. He made three beautiful runs that night. One was a 60-yard run back of an interception.

In the Show-Me-Bowl game at Columbia last year Conley started in place of the ailing Bob Ray and fitted in perfectly. In the final period, with the Tigers leading 7 to 6, Conley intercepted one of Wellington's passes and ran it back 40 yards for the game clinching touchdown. During most of the season he played on the defensive platoon for Gene Dowdy, the Tiger quarterback and he played a bang up game for the Dow charges.

Conley is an 18-year-old senior, weighs around 160 pounds and is six feet tall. He resides with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jenkins at 906 South Missouri avenue.

In school activities he served on the student council four years. He also was in the interannual plays four years and has received honorable mention for the best actor twice.

Death to Noted Show Horse

JUNCTION CITY, Kas., Oct. 20.—(P)—Olympic, who failed as a steplechaser but went on to become one of the nation's most famous show horses, died Thursday. He was 27 years old.

The thoroughbred, a contestant in the Olympic games in 1932 at Los Angeles and again in 1936 at Berlin, appeared before thousands of persons throughout the nation in dressage exhibitions considered the pinnacle of horsemanship.

Col. Hiram E. Tuttle, retired, bought the horse for $1 after Olympic failed to stand up to the training on hard tracks as a steplechaser.

Burial will be near the west riding hall at Ft. Riley where the horse thrilled thousands in the days when the cavalry was an active arm of the military service.

A granite shaft will be erected to his memory.

Key Players Of Tigers on Injury List

End Workouts For Game With Iowa State

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20.—(P)—Coach Dal Ward's football injury program at Colorado already is paying off. His Buffaloes may yet hold the key to the Big Seven pennant race.

Rated last by coaches in a pre-season poll, Colorado's sophomore-dominated squad has broken even in its first four games—all conference affairs—and has played well all the way.

The Buffs, who will be meeting their first non-league foe in Arizona at Boulder tomorrow, pulled a big surprise last week by upsetting Nebraska which only a week earlier had upset Minnesota.

Colorado also has defeated Kansas State and dropped close decisions to Iowa State and Kansas.

Ward's single wing attack has a prize sophomore in halfback Zack Jordan who is second only to Iowa State senior Bill Weeks in passing. Jordan has completed 21 of 31 attempts for 366 yards.

Jordan and veteran Merwin Hodel, a speedy fullback, give Colorado a good going game. Veteran tackle Jack Jorgensen is a steady hand for a fine bunch of sophomore linemen.

After Arizona, the Buffs take on Utah before meeting Oklahoma at Boulder, Nov. 4. Missouri winds up Colorado's conference card the following week.

The Kansas State Wildcats were enroute to Norman, Okla., where they furnish opposition for the mighty Oklahoma Sooners' homecoming day. The undermanned squad was minus six of its better players who were left home because of injuries.

Oklahoma, which will be playing the first of its six successive Big Seven games, figures to win by any score it cares to run up.

Missouri, with several key players still on the injury list, wound up work for Iowa State at Columbia tomorrow. The Missouri and Iowa State freshmen were scheduled to play at Columbia today.

Nebraska and Kansas, each facing non-conference teams at home tomorrow, ended preparations with light drills. Kansas will play Oklahoma A. & M. and Nebraska meets Penn State.

Nebraska got the bad news yesterday. Standout sophomore end Ted Connor has received orders to report for military duty Nov. 15.

• Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(P)—Jerry Groom, Notre Dame center and captain, has played all but ten minutes of the three games the Irish have had so far. . . . Does that indicate a breakdown of the platoon system, or has Notre Dame's motto become "Always a Groom but never a bride"? The John Jachym-Bobby Riggs all-star baseball tour, which is danger of becoming a financial bust, suffered an additional indignity the other night when a game was called off because of fog. Branch McCracken, Indiana U. basketball coach, conditioned his squad with a month of cross-country running. . . . Cosmo Cutri, "spot" halfback on the Southern California football team, is the fastest man at 50 yards in the USC student body — which is one way of saying there isn't another Mel Patton around.

Medlar Wasn't Meddling

Just before every game this season, Coach Rip Engle noticed that trainer Chuck Medlar was missing for a few minutes. . . . After the third time, Rip's curiosity was aroused, so he asked about it. . . . The answer was that one of the cheer leaders has a weak ankle and Medlar would leave the athletes for a few minutes to tape up this important member of the cast. . . . Now Rip is just hoping that nobody in the band develops a leaky tuba.

Sports Before Your Eyes

Tab Southern California's Jeff Cravath and Boston college's Denney Myers as coaches who'll be Groom bait this season if their teams don't win a few soon. . . . The Rangers couldn't do anything about getting Detroit's Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe, hockey's best pair of wings in hockey, so they signed a pair by the same names for their Rover farm. Vic Howe is Lindsay's young brother but Jack Lindsay isn't related to Ted. . . . Fido Murphy, minor league baseball manager and big league football scout, figures he deserves some of the credit for the Giants' getting Jim Hearn. Fido was in town trying to sell a player and dropped the word in the Giants' office that Hearn was available and available. . . . This corner's upset tip of the week is Alabama to beat Tennessee. Word from the south says its best Bama team since the war and just had tough luck against Vanderbilt.

Grid Rookie Shines

One of the sophomore stars of the 1950 football season is Billy Vessels, University of Oklahoma halfback, shown relaxing at Norman, Okla., with Karen Viering of Tulsa in front of her sorority house. Vessels, 190-pounder from Cleveland, Okla., scored both touchdowns in Oklahoma's 14 to 13 victory over Texas in Dallas last Saturday. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Baseball Rule On Bonus is On Way Out

Such is Aim of Executives in Major Leagues

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(P)—Baseball's bonus rule appears on the way out.

And if major league executives have their way, the world series radio-television money will go into the players' pension fund.

That's the majority opinion of the moguls who questioned an Associated Press questionnaire on the two subjects.

Both probably will be among the major topics discussed at a special meeting among the big league owners called by Commissioner A. B. Chandler for Nov. 16 in Cincinnati.

The bonus rule has been a headache to owners and players alike since its inception four years ago. An attempt to repeal it last year failed when only 32 of the 59 minor leagues backed the move. That fell 13 short of the required three-fourths vote needed.

The bonus rule now provides that players signed by major or high minor league teams for more than a $6,000 bonus can be farmed out for only a year and then must be recalled or become subject to a baseball draft.

Jimmy Gallagher, general manager of the Chicago Cubs, a strong advocate of the bonus law, finally has joined the other forces. So has Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, another staunch bonus booster.

"The bonus rule is a good rule," Gallagher said. "But it is not enforced and should be dropped. At least one-third and maybe one-half of the clubs are cheating on it and without enforcement it is a farce."

Giles, who campaigned victoriously for the bonus retention last year said:

"The international situation has changed the whole thing. I believe the bonus rule should be thrown out entirely for a year and then revised."

Other comments against the bonus rule:

Dan Topping, New York Yankees president: "We are in favor of dropping the bonus rule."

Bill DeWitt, St. Louis Browns president: "If they will abolish the high school rule at the same time they abolish the bonus rule, I will vote to abolish both at the same time."

Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox general manager: "The Red Sox have been against the bonus rule since its inception."

Fred Saigh, St. Louis Cardinals president, said "We're taking a neutral attitude on the bonus rule this year" and Roy Mack, Philadelphia Athletics secretary-treasurer, said "We'll go along with the majority." Calvin Griffith, Washington vice-president, would only say "I cannot comment until I learn all the facts."

Traffic Cases Before the

Nick L. Barber, 229 South Missouri, arrested for speeding, failed to appear before Judge Jerry Trotter in police court, this morning, and his $10.00 cash bond was ordered forfeited.

Richard Kuhnoff, 408 East Thirteenth street, arrested for making a left turn on Ohio avenue, pleaded guilty in court and was fined $5.00 by Judge Trotter.

One overtime parking bond of one-dollar was ordered forfeited by Judge Trotter.

MENDING SHAW—Famous playwright George Bernard Shaw, recently released from a hospital after suffering a broken thigh and other ailments, relaxes in his garden at Ayot St. Lawrence, Eng., under the care of day nurse Sister Horan. The 94-year-old author, sent home by doctors who were concerned over his melancholy, announced he "may never write again."

Orchards to be Nationalized

SPINAGAR, Kashmir — (P) — The state government proposes to nationalize all large orchards in Indian-held Kashmir, which includes the fertile Valley of Kashmir. Officials say a committee will be appointed to fix the rate of compensation to be paid orchard owners.

Agrarian reforms already announced will distribute farm land among the tillers, with the maximum limit of land ownership to be 20 acres.

"Grand Antique," a French marble with black and white markings in sharp contrast, is the model for a modern asphalt tile.

"Old Ironsides" was launched in 1797.

Last Horse Drive?

HANNA, Alta. — (P) — Probably the last of the famous horse drives from the Canadian prairies to the United States left here recently. A dozen Canadian cowboys rode nine days to herd almost 500 Alberta horses to a Montana buyer at Sweetgrass on the international border.

Claim of No Disagreement As to Formosa

The Issue Truman Says Was Cleared Up Five Weeks Ago

By D. Harold Oliver

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—(AP)—Pres. Truman Thursday heatedly denied there is any disagreement between him and Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Formosa, saying that question was settled five weeks ago.

It was at that time that the President ordered MacArthur to withdraw a statement he sent to the Veterans of Foreign Wars concerning Formosa, saying that the Chinese coast.

Briefly, MacArthur's position was that the United States must prevent Formosa from falling into unfriendly hands because it is vital to U. S. defenses. The administration takes the position that Formosa's future is a question for the U. N.

Brusquely, Mr. Truman told his news conference today he went to Wake Island to discuss with MacArthur many Asiatic problems, including a Japanese peace treaty, rehabilitation of Korea, and conditions in Indo-China.

In Complete Agreement

He said he and MacArthur are in complete agreement, that MacArthur told him it was the most satisfactory conference he ever had. The President said he felt the same way about it.

While neither affirming nor denying Formosa was mentioned on Wake last week-end, the President indicated it was not because he said the issue was settled a month or five weeks ago.

The President's remarks were made in response to questions occasioned by a news conference held at the Pentagon yesterday by high officials who accompanied President Truman to the meeting with MacArthur.

These officials, who stipulated that they must remain anonymous, said Mr. Truman, after conferring with MacArthur alone, told his aides an agreement had been reached on Formosa and that there would be no need to take up the issue at a more general meeting which followed.

Must Not Mention Names

While the officials who gave out this information said their names must not be published, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) named them as Secretary of the Army Frank C. Pace and Gen. Omar Bradley. Knowland, a critic of administration Far East policy, made public this telegram he sent yesterday to Pace:

(For further details on the Truman press conference see Truman conference, page 6).

Two Trainmen Die in Wreck

This is a general view of the wreckage of the New York Central railroad's passenger express, the "North Star," wrecked at Oneida, N. Y. The engine and 11 cars were derailed in the heart of the city when the train hit a steel freight door which had fallen across the tracks. Two trainmen were killed and several passengers injured. Rare Display Of Big Power Harmony Seen

Dulles Says The Assembly Recognizes The Korean Lesson

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20—(AP)—The U. N. political committee

Thursday put its formal approval on a plan for swift General Assembly action against aggression. It also put Russia on a trouble-shooting peace observation group in a rare display of big power harmony.

The final roll-call vote on the anti-aggression program first laid down by Secretary of State Dean Acheson was 50 to 5. The Russian bloc opposed it, although Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky succeeded in getting Russia and Czechoslovakia on the peace commission. India, Syria and Argentina abstained.

The United States, France, Britain, China, Colombia, India, Iraq, Israel, New Zealand, Sweden, Pakistan and Uruguay were placed on the 14-member peace observation commission with the two Russian bloc countries.

Dulles Hails Action

John Foster Dulles, U. S. delegate, hailed the committee action as "historic." In a statement after the vote, he said it showed the U. N.—providing the General Assembly approves the proposal as expected—has "taken to heart the lesson of Korea and will have consolidated and invigorated its means to repress aggression."

"Hereafter, irrespective of Security Council vetoes and filibusters, there can be United Nations readiness to observe, readiness to act and member nation readiness to respond," Dulles said. "The combination of readiness should deter aggression and make peace more secure."

Approves Resolution

The committee then approved a Soviet resolution calling for the military staff committee, which has been deadlocked since 1947, to step up consultations on an armed forces under the Security Council. The committee witnessed the unusual sight of Russia abstaining on its own proposal. Russia withheld her support because France tacked on an amendment saying the proposal should not interfere in any way with the operation of the anti-aggression plan just approved.

Another Soviet proposal for big power consultations on measures for maintaining peace was rejected.

Good Rating Given Schools

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20—(AP)—Dr. Richard J. Clemmenin, consultant of training schools for the U. S. children's bureau today praised the Missouri state board of training schools for improvements made at the institutions.

He made a survey of the institutions two years ago and another recently. Thursday he met for three hours with the board to discuss the reports.

"We were much pleased with his report," said Col. John J. Griffin, St. Louis, chairman of the board.

"He told us that 'unless I had seen it I would not have believed that so much progress could have been made in two years.'"

Dr. Clemmenin said he was most impressed by the physical changes in buildings and equipment and the difference in the attitude of the students.

Colonel Griffin said Dr. Clemmenin would submit a written report on his findings and also would offer some suggestions.

He added that the board would adopt some of these suggestions at later meetings.

The board also discussed plans for a new chapel at the state training school for boys at Boonville.

Besides Colonel Griffin members attending the meeting were J. John Willis, Kansas City; J. S. Williamson, Columbia; Oren J. Lamb, Macon; A. D. Bond, Mexico, and Ellis F. Rucker, Jefferson City.

Takes A Doctor's Advice

Gas Station Man's Aches and Pains Leave Completely After First 3 Bottles Of Hadacol

Father helped, too, who also had deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

Wesley Scallions, energetic young gas station attendant in Peoria, Illinois, tells how HADACOL keeps him on the job. Wesley Scallions has this to report: "I took HADACOL upon the advice of my father who has taken it regularly for some time. He could not eat, was unable to get around, lost sleep and was generally run-down because he had these deficiencies. My brother who is a doctor recommended HADACOL to Dad. Since taking HADACOL Dad has been feeling like a different man; he now has a hearty appetite, sleeps well and gets around once again on his own. "I have had pains in my right arm and legs due to these deficiencies. I lost many days of work until I started to take HADACOL. After my first three bottles the pains left me completely and now I work every day without having any pain. I am a gas attendant and need full use of both arms and legs in my line of work. Thanks to HADACOL I can now perform my job satisfactorily and feel fine."

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief

Don't be satisfied with symptomatic relief—HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those cruel nagging aches and pains when due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in the system. AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous, complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning.

That's the kind of product you've been wanting—the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

Many doctors recommend HADACOL. It is also wonderful for stomach disturbances (gas pains, indigestion, bloating, heartburn) and a general nervous run-down condition when due to such deficiencies.

Be fair to yourself! If you have such deficiencies—why go around feeling half-alive—a burden to others when you can get this great HADACOL at any drugstore. Remember—HADACOL must help you or your money back. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Any drugstore.

Oil Shipped To Red China After Korean War Started

Over Half Million Gallons Has Poured Out To Communists

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(P)—Investigating senators heard testimony today which left Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) convinced that "laxity" permitted half a million gallons of war-vital American engine oil to reach Red China after fighting began in Korea.

They got three official suggestions on the nature of the leak: 1. A legalistic loophole—the fact that the oil was technically "in transit," out of this country when an embargo on such shipments went on. It was stored in Japan and transhipped later.

2. Inadvertence, meaning somebody failed by oversight.

3. Conflict of jurisdiction, perhaps between authorities here and in Japan.

None of that satisfied O'Connor, chairman of the Commerce subcommittee investigating reports of strategic items shipped to the Korean Communists' northern neighbors and sympathizers.

No Question About It

"I won't use the word 'violation' yet," O'Connor told reporters after the hearing recessed, "but there is no question that 13,000 drums of oil have been sent to Communist China since early June, 11,500 of them since the Korean crisis and all of them after the embargo ordered in Washington."

O'Connor made his comment after a closed-door session with witnesses for the state department, the army and commerce department's office of international trade, to obtain information which the witnesses had asked not to be required to give in public.

Earlier in open hearing O'Connor had criticized the shipments as "a gross miscarriage of regulations."

He got agreement on that point from Quincy Adams of the Army's office of occupied areas. But Adams would not accept O'Connor's suggestion that SCAP, the supreme command of allied powers in Tokyo, had failed to enforce the embargo last March.

"Classified Information"

Adams pleaded "classified information" when O'Connor wanted to know why SCAP permitted shipments five months after the ban.

A little later Adams advanced the suggestion of legal questions over application of the embargo to shipments that had left U. S. shores.

He said the oil had been held up in Japan because there was a delay in payment by the purchaser and a lack of storage space in China.

O'Connor declined to accept that as a valid reason for letting the oil go through.

Adams and Edward Guinane, assistant chief of the investigating staff of the office of international trade, testified that "a considerable portion" of a supply of more than a million gallons of the oil had been moved on to Japan, some as late as August.

Highway Patrol Digs Up Clue In Murder Case

FESTUS, Mo., Oct. 19.—(P)—A fingerprint on a candy jar. Will it trap the killer?

It's an important clue, says the state highway patrol and Jefferson county authorities who are investigating the death of Mrs. Lewis Lucas.

The 48-year-old housewife was shot in the neck last night by an intruder when she flipped on the kitchen light to investigate a noise. Her husband, a real estate dealer, was talking on the telephone in the front hall when the shooting occurred.

Police Chief Carl Mezo of Festus said today the fingerprint was on an overturned jar found on the kitchen floor. The jar contained peppermint candy.

The print is being developed by highway troopers in Jefferson City.

Mezo said a check of stores in the Festus area disclosed that none handled that particular brand of candy. Lucas said the candy did not belong to the family.

Reds Outlawed In Australia

CANBERRA, Australia, Oct. 19.—(P)—Australia today became the 27th nation to outlaw the Communist party.

A bill ordering dissolution of the party, seizure of its assets and expulsion of declared Communists from key union and government posts passed quickly through the senate after the labor party members Tuesday withdrew their opposition. The lower house had passed the bill long ago.

Hoover Wants To Halt $ Flow To W. Europe

Until A Definite European Army Is Organized, Unified

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(P)—Former President Herbert Hoover said tonight the United States should provide no more money or arms for the defense of western Europe "until a definitely unified and sufficient European army is in sight."

Western Europe must provide most of its own defenses against Communism, Hoover said, warning that the United States cannot indefinitely stand the economic drain of bolstering everywhere against Russia.

He asked the democratic nations of the world to "specify what they will join with and when" in a united military and economic front against Communism.

Cannot Endure Strain

"We should say at once that the United States, with all its resources, cannot long endure the present drain on our economy," he said in a speech prepared for radio delivery on the program "One Nation Indivisible."

"And if that fails, the world goes into night."

"But if we do not find real military action of powerful strength in western Europe; if there is no definite and effective mobilization of the United Nations so as to take up the major burden of their own defenses, then we had better reconsider our whole relation to the problem."

"In that event, we had better quit talking and paying, and consider holding the Atlantic ocean with Britain—if they wish—as one frontier, and the Pacific ocean with an armed Japan and other islands as the other frontier."

Hoover said that as a result of the vast military program the United States has launched "we are in the midst of a disastrous wave of inflation."

"We can stand this," he said, "for possibly two or three years pending a genuine rally by the non-Communist world to their full part in defense. But we must in time have relief from a large part of that burden."

"We cannot carry the load for long without fulfilling Stalin's hopes of bleeding us economically to impotence."

Famous Poetess Dies Of Heart Attack Thursday

AUSTERLITZ, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(P)—Poetess Edna St. Vincent Millay was found dead at her home here today. She was 58.

Dr. Oscar Wilcox said she died of a heart attack.

Her body was found at the foot of the stairs in her home in this eastern New York community.

Dr. Wilcox said he believed the attack caused her to fall down stairs. The body was found by James Pinnie, a caretaker at her home, where she lived alone.

In 1923 she was awarded the Pulitzer prize for verse for her "The Ballad of the Harp-Weaver."

Miss Millay, best known for her poem "Renascence," moved here 22 years ago from New York City by her husband, Eugene Jan Boissevain. He died about a year ago.

Miss Millay, who has been a poet since childhood, was one of the most popular of her time. Her books were best sellers and collectors' items.

Friends in New York said Miss Millay was working on a new book of poetry at the time of her death.

When she first major published poem, "Renascence," appeared in 1912. In the ensuing years she became a pre-eminent figure in New York's Greenwich village—the home at one time or another of many outstanding artists, writers, poets.

Allies Quickly Occupy Pyongyang Resistance Crumbles; Red Guerrillas; Formosa Question Is Now Settled

There Is No Disagreement On The Island

The Issue Truman Says Has Cleared Up Five Weeks Ago

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(P)—President Truman today heatedly denied there is any disagreement between him and Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Formosa, saying that question was settled five weeks ago.

It was at that time that the President ordered MacArthur to withdraw a statement he sent to the Veterans of Foreign Wars concerning Formosa, big island off the Chinese coast.

Briefly, MacArthur's position was that the United States must prevent Formosa from falling into unfriendly hands because it is vital to U. S. defenses. The administration takes the position that Formosa's future is a question for the U. N.

Brusquely, Mr. Truman told his news conference today he went to Wake Island to discuss with MacArthur many Asiatic problems, including a Japanese peace treaty, rehabilitation of Korea, and conditions in Indo-China.

In Complete Agreement

He said he and MacArthur are in complete agreement, that MacArthur told him it was the most satisfactory conference he ever had. The President said he felt the same way about it.

While neither affirming nor denying Formosa was mentioned on Wake last week-end, the President indicated it was not because he said the issue was settled a month or five weeks ago.

The President's remarks were made in response to questions occasioned by a news conference held at the Pentagon yesterday by high officials who accompanied President Truman to the meeting with MacArthur.

These officials, who stipulated that they must remain anonymous, said Mr. Truman, after conferring with MacArthur alone, told his aides an agreement had been reached on Formosa and that there would be no need to take up the issue at a more general meeting which followed.

Must Not Mention Names

While the officials who gave out this information said their names must not be published, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) named them as Secretary of the Army Frank C. Pace and Gen. Omar Bradley.

Knowland, a critic of administration Far East policy, made public this telegram he sent yesterday to Pace:

Tigers Taper Grid Drills

Dow Plans To Take 30 Men To Columbia For Crucial Contest

Coach Ralph Dow ran his Tigers through a light signal drill, with no contact work, on the eve of the 1950 Bengal's most important game of the year which will be played at Columbia this evening.

The Tigers will leave at 3 o'clock today for the trip to Columbia. Dow plans to take a travelling squad composed of 30 men. The Bengals are in the best physical condition of the season, with all 30 ready for full action.

The Kewpie attack has been well-scouted by the Tiger staff, and judging from the emphasis placed on pass-defense by the S-C coaches, their major fear is the Hickman aerial offense led by quarterback Bob Musgrave.

With the tilt rated a toss-up, coach Dow has placed additional stress on physical conditioning, which could easily be the deciding factor in the game's outcome. The Kewpies have pointed toward this contest all season, as they have failed to defeat a Smith-Cotton eleven since 1945.

Drop in Polio Cases The Past Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(P)—The number of polio cases dropped by 12 per cent last week, the Public Health Service said today.

It was the third straight week of decline. The peak apparently was reached this year during the week ended Sept. 23.

The City's New "Cat" Breaks Ground

The City of Sedalia's New Caterpillar is shown above breaking ground and preparing to dig a garbage disposal ditch in the city dumping grounds located six miles west of Sedalia on the Main street road and east of the old Sedalia Airport.

At the time the picture was taken, the tractor was being operated by a representative of the Caterpillar company. At the present time the "cat" is being operated by L. M. Weise of 419 East Thirteenth street, and stored in a recently constructed garage, on the grounds.

The "cat" according to Willis Jabas, City Sanitary Officer has a dual purpose. It not only digs the disposal ditches, which are eight feet deep, fourteen feet wide and approximately 500 feet in length, but the machine also fills them and packs the trench as it is filled with waste.

Jabas said the 36 acres of ground offers ample room for expansion. In the past year there have been eight such ditches filled as mentioned above. The grounds are open to the public between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. The four city garbage trucks visit the grounds daily as do the private driven trucks.

The shovel on the "cat" is capable of scooping a yard and a quarter of dirt and is especially designed for city garbage disposal service.

Jabas said the "cat" was purchased shortly after fair week and has been in actual operation for about a month.

Navy Has Identified 39 Who Were Injured On Sunk Minesweeper

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(P)—The Navy today identified 39 officers and 36 enlisted men who were injured when the minesweeper Pirate sank after striking a mine on the east coast of Korea Oct. 12.

The injured members of the crew include:

Lt. (JG) Roy Francis Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walter Hoffman, Crystal City, Mo.

Chief electrician's mate Ophir Roy Vanskike, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vanskike, Shelbyville, Mo.

Seaman apprentice William Harold Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Evans, box 303, Des Arc, Ark.

Cooper County For Ham Honor

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 19.—(P)—Cooper county wants University of Missouri alumni in Washington to know it produces hams also.

The M.U. alumni will sit down tomorrow at a breakfast to determine which county in the state produces the best country hams. They indicated they would choose between Boone, Callaway, Monroe and Audrain.

When Cooper county hams producers heard about it, they quickly got off a telegram to Herschel Schooley, an official of the alumni group in Washington.

They pointed out that Cooper county had been left out and claimed that Cooper county hams producers have won more prizes at the Missouri State Fair than those of the other four counties combined.

Officials of the producers association expressed regret they could not send a ham to Washington in time for the breakfast, but hoped the alumni would "discover the succulence of the right hind leg of a Cooper county ham, cured as only Cooper county hams producers can cure it."

Another Letter Is Added To The New York Political Pot

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(P)—A two-year-old letter written by Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) in defense of Alger Hiss injected a new twist into New York's explosive political campaign today.

It came amid a furor over another letter, written by Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, Lehman's Republican opponent, which the Democrats claimed showed Hanley was being "paid off" to run for the Senate instead of the governorship.

Lehman's letter was published in the New York World-Telegram and Sun, and Lehman promptly issued a statement saying he had no apology for it.

He pointed out that it was dated Aug. 6, 1948—more than a year before the conviction of Hiss on a perjury charge.

Conquest May Be A Matter Of Few Hours

SEOUL, Korea, Friday, Oct. 20.—(P)—United Nations troops mopped up today inside Pyongyang against the last Reds still resisting with small arms and mortars in the swiftly-overrun former North Korean capital.

A U. S. Eighth army spokesman said Pyongyang, the bulk of which was occupied yesterday, has not yet been officially declared secured.

But he added: "It is more in the nature of a cleanup operation now."

U. N. fighter planes, striking north at the retreating Communist remnants, operated from the former Communist air base at the northeast edge of Pyongyang. The base was captured Thursday by South Korean troops.

Complete conquest of the former Communist control point was believed to be only a matter of hours.

Slash Into City

American and Korean Republic troops slashed into the city in lightning drives through crumbling Red resistance within 18 minutes of each other shortly after 11 a. m. Thursday.

The small hard core of the crushed North Korean regular army and the Communist regime that spurred it to invade South Korea June 25 fled northward from Pyongyang.

There was not enough of the Red brawn left to make an organized stand against the United Nations forces. What was left headed for the hills, presumably to wage guerrilla warfare as long as possible.

The expendable troops the Red elite left behind to cover its headlong flight surrendered by the thousands.

In its seventeenth week, the end of the bitter war was in sight. Top allied commanders expected only guerrilla resistance from now on.

Red Morale Broken

Capture of the Red stronghold of Pyongyang undoubtedly broke the back of Korean Red morale; and on both the east and west coasts, the allies were striking deeper toward the Korean-Manchurian border.

Troops of the U. S. First Cavalry division were first into Pyongyang. They slashed into the eastern industrial section from the southern outskirts Thursday at 11:02 a. m. (9:02 p. m. Wednesday EST). It was one more in a string of historic "firsts" for the famed division—first into Manila, first into Tokyo and first to make the link-up of the allied Pusan and Inchon beachheads in South Korea.

A column of the South Korean Republic First division stabbed into Pyongyang from the east 18 minutes later.

The Cavalry foot troops and the South Korean soldiers met on the east side of a bridge over the Taedong river which divides the city into two nearly equal parts.

There were quick handshakes all around and the joined forces poured westward across the bridge to rout out the few die-hard Reds still firing occasional sniper shots.

Driver Dies At Wheel; Companion's Alertness Prevents A Mishap

OAK GROVE, Mo., Oct. 19.—(P)—A man collapsed and died of a heart attack at the wheel of a speeding automobile near here today, and the quick action of a companion prevented the machine from going out of control.

Harlen T. Lynch, about 38, St. Louis, suffered a fatal attack while driving on U. S. Highway 40 just east of here.

Lee J. Sloan, 52, also of St. Louis, seized the wheel as the car veered to the highway shoulder, and stopped the machine by switching off the ignition.

Sloan's brother, T. Virgil Sloan, 45, was in the rear seat of the car. The brothers operate a moving and storage company in St. Louis, and Lynch was a salesman employed by the firm.

Church Weddings of the Autumn Season And Other Social Events

Gayle Scruton Is Bride Of John Menefee

The marriage of Miss Gayle Grace Dorman Scruton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Scruton, Jr., 712 West Third street, and Mr. John Joseph Menefee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elfred William Menefee, 623 West Fourth street, was solemnized at the Sacred Heart Catholic church at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Rev. Father A. J. Brunswick, pastor of the church, officiated at the nuptial high mass. The double ring ceremony was used.

Smilax and palms formed the setting for the wedding with yellow pompon chrysanthemums on the altar and communion rail.

Preceding the service Mrs. Earl Paxton gave a prelude of organ music and accompanied Mr. Al Domingue who sang, "Mother Beloved" by Rev. D. P. Lord. Mrs. Paxton then played the processional. The men's choir sang the mass. Missa Salve Regina by Stehle and at the offertory Mr. Domingue sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. Paxton at the organ, played the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ice blue bridal satin, designed with fitted bodice, long tapering sleeves ending in points at the wrist and very full skirt, bouffant over hoops and crinoline, which lengthened into a long cathedral train. The off-the-shoulder neckline was finished with a straight bertha of satin embroidered with ice blue pearls and iridescent beads. The yoke was of sheer illusion and her tiny Peter Pan collar was of satin embroidered in pearls and beads. Her baby cap of matching ice blue satin was trimmed with pearls and from the back of it fell a silk illusion of ice blue. She carried a cascade type bouquet of pale cream carnations showered with ivory ribbon.

Miss Marjorie Scruton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Menefee, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Jerry Engle and Miss Allene Hall. All four were in identical satin gowns of peacock blue shade, fashioned with tightly fitted bodices and large, softly tucked bertha collars flared over the shoulders. The bouffant skirts were of matching tulle, and their satin sashes tied in the back with large bustle bows. All wore satin mitts and satin ballerina slippers dyed to match their dresses. Their baby caps, made like that of the bride were trimmed at one side with pale yellow pompon chrysanthemums and the same flowers formed their cascade bouquets.

Mr. William Menefee, brother of the bridegroom, served his brother as best man.

Groomsmen and ushers were Mr. James Menefee, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Kenneth Ash, Mr. John Donahue and Mr. Joseph Lennartz.

The bride's mother wore a black crepe dress with black accessories and her corsage was a purple orchid. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a brown faille suit with a corsage of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sedalia Country club. On the bride's table was a five-tier column wedding cake with yellow roses on the top and encircled with smilax and yellow roses. The club house was decorated with palms and burning tapers in candelabra.

Serving the guests were: Mrs. Joseph Glenn Herrick, Miss Betty Brosch, Miss Marilyn Volkart, Mrs. Jack Hawkins, Mrs. Calvin Rodgers and Mrs. Joseph Imhauser.

Mrs. Wayne Brent, of Kansas City, the former Miss Ruth Elaine Scruton, of Sedalia, a cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left on a wedding trip to St. Louis. For traveling the bride chose a red and black wool suit with which she work black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Smith-Cotton high school in the class of 1948 and attended Central Missouri State college at Warrensburg for one year where she was a member of Sigma Sigma sorority. For the past year she has been employed on the news staff of the Sedalia Democrat.

Mr. Menefee was graduated from the Sacred Heart high school in the class of 1947. He attended the St. Louis university in St. Louis for one year and is now with the W. J. Menefee Construction company.

Among the guests from out-of-town were: the bride's sisters, Mrs. Clarence Homan and Mr. Homan, Clyde, Ohio, Mrs. Dannie Wolf, Mr. Wolf and their children, Danette and Dan, Cornins, N.Y.; her aunts, Mrs. Irwin Neale and Mr. Neale, Lexington, Mo.,

Couple Wed At Christian Church

Miss Mary Louise Higgins, daughter of Mrs. Opal Higgins, 309 East Boonville street, became the bride of Mr. Howard Turner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Turner, route 5, Sedalia, at 8:00 o'clock Friday night, September 22, at the First Christian church. The Rev. David M. Bryan, pastor of the church, read the double ring service, before an altar setting of white gladioli, palms and burning tapers in cathedral standards.

Mrs. H. O. Foraker at the organ played the nuptial music and accompanied Mr. Robert Cowan, baritone, who sang, "Through the Years" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Donald Higgins, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline with wide white lace edging on the net yoke. The full skirt lengthened into a short train around which was very wide lace. A satin band embroidered on either side with seed pearls held her fingertip length illusion veil in place and she carried a white prayerbook to which was attached a purple orchid showered with stephanotis.

Mrs. Bud Faulkner, of Independence, matron of honor wore a taffeta gown of delicate lavender shade styled with off-the-shoulder effect bodice waist, stole and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of dark pink carnations.

Miss Louella Smith of Excelsior Springs and Mrs. Robert Barbour, as bridesmaids wore gowns of purple taffeta, designed like that of the matron of honor. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Miss Minta Sullivan and Miss Jacquelin Pierce lighted the candles. They wore dresses similar to those of the bridesmaids in deep lavender shade and their flowers were of white carnations.

Mr. Frank Hamilton, of St. Louis, served as best man and Mr. Bud Faulkner, of Independence and Mr. Roy Pollard, of Pleasant Green were ushers.

The bride's mother was attired in a blue satin dress with white gloves and black accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore green wool with accessories of brown. Both had corsages of white carnations.

A reception at which there were 50 guests was held following the ceremony with the matron of honor, the bridesmaids and candelights serving.

The couple left on a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., and are now at home at 1009 East Sixth street. The bride wore for traveling a white suit with navy accessories and her corsage was an orchid.

The bride is employed at the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Mr. Turner is a graduate of the Oklahoma university and is a member of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Music Modes

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 —(AP)—The new Broadway musical, "Call Me Madam," is blessed with probably the top flight array of talent that you could recruit in the theatrical field. And it is a splendid, gay and colorful show, although not quite up to expectations.

Briefly, I found lagging moments in the story part of the show although it seemed that authors Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse had an infallible idea in basing their plot on an American next meeting will be held November 1st at the home of Mrs. Frank Buffon.

Fellowship Dinner Friday

One hundred members of the First Congressional and Central Presbyterian church attended the fellowship dinner given Friday night for Dr. and Mrs. Glen Lindley, who were recently married.

The dinner was given under the auspices of the Women's Service Guild of the church.

After the supper a short program was presented. Mrs. Henry Holist, president of the Guild, introduced Arthur Hoffman who was in charge of the evening program. He introduced William Hurlbut, Jr., who on behalf of the church presented Dr. and Mrs. Lindley with a purse as a wedding gift.

Following the dinner Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stafford, Jr., was introduced and Mr. Stafford then showed pictures of his trip to Europe. Mr. Stafford's grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stafford were for years valued members of the Central Presbyterian church.

Miss Long Gets Honors On Piano Playing

Miss Betty Jane Long, 2001 East Twelfth street, went to Jefferson City on September 27 where she attended a musical festival and received first honors for piano playing with credit going to Central Missouri State college in Warrensburg. She is now teaching music in Warrensburg.

While in Jefferson City Miss Long visited the state capitol and mansion.

woman ambassador to a tiny European country. It has all the potential qualities of a middle European operetta, but the spark plug of the show is the ebullient Ethel Merman who plays the role of the woman ambassador.

Miss Merman's enchanting performance as Mrs. Sally Adams, the woman ambassador, combines with one of the best song scores that Irving Berlin has ever written to make this show an exciting evening.

The story is based obviously upon the suggestion of the career of Mrs. Perla Mesta, the current U. S. minister to Luxembourg and who went to that post from her position as one of the most celebrated hostesses in government circles of Washington, D. C. However, the producers make a special note in their programs that "neither the character of Mrs. Sally Adams, nor Miss Ethel Merman, resembles any other person alive or dead."

Which is true, for when the high-voiced, comedy-minded Miss Merman gets on stage, she is pure simple Miss Merman. And she's an exciting honey, especially with her singing of "The Hostess With the Mostes" on the Ball" and "The Best Thing for You Would Be Me." Composer Berlia, with both his music and lyrics, has done a blue ribbon job for this.

There is one song they have, "They Like Ike," which contemplates the possibility of General Eisenhower being the next occupant of the White House. Eisenhower was in the first night audience, and you couldn't tell from his poker face what his reaction was to that song. However, the audience kept up such applause that the singer had to come back for five reprises.

Miss Merman, as the American ambassador, breaks all rules of State Department protocol, but she gets things done. She wins Lichtenberg over to being an ally of the U. S. and also arranges for the princess of Lichtenberg to wed a nice young American boy who is on her staff. In her spare moments she promotes her own romance with the Lichtenberg prime minister, a role played by the film actor, Paul Lukas.

In the end, Ambassador Merman is triumphant and the royal heads of Lichtenberg decorate her with a golden medal. And it is a typical Ethel Merman ending.

As they decorate her, they inform her that instead of "Madame Ambassadors" she will now have the privilege to the title of "dame."

Miss Merman, wearing a gown that seems to be made of all of Broadway's neon lights, yells in protest: "So I'm being demoted."

First Symphony Concert Of Season On October 23

William Watkins, organist of the New York avenue Presbyterian church, Washington, D. C., will be guest artist at the first Sedalia Symphony orchestra concert of the 1950-51, Monday night, October 23, in the auditorium of Smith-Cotton high school. It will be the fifteenth season for the orchestra and for conductor, Abe Rosenthal.

Mr. Watkins was declared winner of the Young Artist Award of $5,000 in the competition held in 1949 by the National Federation of Music clubs. He is a graduate of the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, Md., where he received the rarely given artist Diploma in organ, the 18th such diploma since 1882. He also won two prizes for distinguished scholarship while at the conservatory. He has been head in numerous recitals in New York, Baltimore, Washington and other eastern cities.

Praised By Critics Last year he appeared in recital at Kansas City and recently as guest artist with the famed Dallas Symphony orchestra. Other recitals were presented at Okla., City, Tulsa, and Wichita. The following reviews were clipped from newspapers over the country:

"Demonstrated the broadest possibilities of the organ as a concert instrument. . . touched sixteenth century compositions with great purity of interpretation and with melodic clarity demanded of polyphonic and fugal forms. . . presented works of modern composers with enormous virtuosity. . . moving interpretation and technical brilliance."

The Wilmington Star, Wilmington, N. C.

"The young organist displayed sound musicianship, impeccable technique, a complete command of the organ and an artistic sense of registration."

Roadside Park Is Dedicated Near Otterville

Ceremonies With Addresses to be Held Today

The Brownfield Roadside Park, one and one-fourth miles east of Otterville on Highway 50, will be dedicated today.

The land for the park, five acres, was given to the Missouri State Highway Department by Mrs. R. O. Brownfield. Mrs. Brownfield and the late Mr. Brownfield were life-long residents of Otterville and Cooper county and Mrs. Brownfield now lives at 623 South Lafayette avenue, in Sedalia.

The park is being sponsored by the Otterville Garden club and the community of Otterville. The work of clearing, grading and developing has been done by the Missouri State Highway Department under the direction of F. W. Sayers, roadside engineer.

Mrs. J. E. Golladay has served as chairman of the park board and other members of her committee are: Mrs. D. B. Mayfield, Mrs. Robert Murray, Mrs. H. Kuhn and Mrs. Lawrence Moor. Mrs. Les Layne is president of the Otterville Garden club.

Officials Expected

Many state officials and representatives of the Highway Commission and Department are expected to attend. The Missouri Highway Patrol will handle traffic. Space across the highway has been secured for parking.

The park is to be dedicated as a Blue Star Memorial Roadside park, which is a plan of the National Council of State Garden Clubs to create a living tribute to the men and women of our nation who served in World War II. Such parks are located along certain designated highways from the east coast to the west. This is the second such park in Missouri to be dedicated and marked with the official Blue Star Memorial Marker. The other park is Bradford Roadside park, just west of Sedalia. Mrs. Herbert Seifert is state chairman for this project for the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri. She is also a member of the national committee.

The dedication ceremonies will begin with a basket dinner at noon to which the public is welcome. The program follows: "America" by audience. Invocation, Rev. H. A. Wood. "America the Beautiful," Otterville high school chorus. Introduction, Mrs. J. E. Golladay. Presentation of Mrs. R. O. Brownfield by F. W. Sayers. Remarks, Mrs. R. O. Brownfield. Welcome, J. H. Gunn. Response, Rex Whitton, Missouri Highway Department. Speakers, Dr. E. L. Clark, state geologist who will talk on "Rock Formation"; Floyd Schoemaker, State Historical society, who will talk on "The Historical Setting"; and Judge Roy Williams, who will tell of the "James Boys Episode."

Unveiling of Marker. American Legion Color Guard. Star Spangled Banner, Pledge of Allegiance. History of the Blue Star Memorial Highway, Mrs. Herbert Seifert. Blue Star Memorial Project. Response Veterans, World War I. Dr. J. C. Miller, president of Christian college, Columbia and Mr. Harrison. Prayer, Rev. H. A. Wood. Taps, Anthony Brothers. Placing of wreath on marker, Mrs. Parsons, president of American Legion Auxiliary. Presentation of park, Mrs. J. E. Golladay. Response, Rex Whitton. "God Bless America."

Posse Searches For A Negro Slayer

CALERA, Ala., Oct. 19.—(P)—A huge posse estimated at one time at more than 1,000 men searched through the night for a Negro accused by a white woman of raping her and killing her young son.

The child, four-year-old Dale Holley, was shot through the head as his mother clasped him in her arms.

The mother, Mrs. Kathleen Holley, 37, was shot twice and beaten on the head with a large rock. She was seriously wounded but was reported improving today at a Birmingham hospital.

Woodland Hospital

Admitted for surgery and dismissed: Allen Armstrong, 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armstrong, 1217 South Lamine avenue.

Truman's Conference

By The Associated Press

At one point during the Truman's Thursday news conference the President said the Formosa question is settled and he didn't want to hear any more about it. But another newsman asked whether the U. S. would defend Formosa pending its ultimate disposition by the UN. Mr. Truman replied that river has not been reached yet.

He said decisions were reached on Korean reconstruction, and he got MacArthur's views on Indo-China, but no decision was made on that. They did not discuss the proposed admission of Red China to the UN, he said.

MacArthur Is Happy Asked if MacArthur had expressed a desire to resign, Mr. Truman said he did not. He said the general told him he was happy in his job and wanted to finish it and he is happy to have him do so. This was taken to mean MacArthur would not come home until a Japanese peace treaty is concluded.

The President said he hopes such a treaty can be concluded promptly, that the U. S. is negotiating with ten other nations on it now.

Wake Island Gets Limelight The Wake Island conference took up most of the interview today, although the President did discuss briefly the New York and general political situation.

He predicted the Democrats would surprise the Republicans again this year and make net gains in both houses of Congress. He said it would be a landslide for his party.

Asked about Democratic prospects in view of the Hanley letter episode in New York, he said he read the letter and was sorry he had it. It's a sorry thing that something of that kind had to come out before the public, he said.

Of course it will have some effect on the New York election, he added, and it won't hurt the Democrats.

Two Accused in Fatal Beating

AVA, Mo., Oct. 19.—(P)—Two men, reported by Sheriff George Prock to have beaten a third to death because he refused to take a drink of wine, were charged today with first degree murder.

Sheriff Prock identified the men as Doyle Short, 45, and Roy Lamb, 20, both of Squires, Mo., a community south of here. Their alleged victim, the sheriff, was Ralph Merritt, 45, of near Mansfield, whose body was found in the Little North Fork river last week.

Sheriff Prock, who with sheriff Aud Rose of Ozarks county questioned the pair, said they told this story:

They picked up Merritt near Mansfield Oct. 7 and drove to near the river where they offered Merritt a drink of wine. When he refused, they began beating the man with their fists. Lamb then continued the attack with an old automobile headlamp they found in their car.

When they found their victim was dead they put a rope around the neck of the body and dragged it about 500 yards through brush to the river, where they disposed of it.

"It was frightening," Prock said after the officers had heard the statement of two men. "Here was a man killed for no reason; simply because he refused to take a drink of wine."

He described both Short and Lamb as "calm and cocky." He added that Short was on parole from the state of Washington, where he was serving a 10-year sentence for assault. Lamb, he said, has been placed on probation twice, once for forgery and another time for burglary.

Bothwell Hospital

Dismissed: John Purvis, Versailles; Mrs. Ada M. Scott, 2004 South Lamine avenue; Mrs. Sheshta Pinkepank, 1902 East Broadway; Mrs. James Pace, 1523 South Harrison avenue; Infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rose 1108 1/2 South Ohio avenue; Mrs. J. W. Delph and daughter, 1830 South Carr avenue.

Admitted for surgery: Mrs. Woodrow Simon, 1010 1/2 East Fourth street.

Admitted for medical treatment: Mrs. Florence Long, 401 Dal-Whi-Mo court, and Earl Johnson, route 4, Sedalia.

Recommend A Potato Cut

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(P)—The government recommended today that farmers cut their 1951 potato acreage 15 per cent below this year.

The agriculture department suggested a production goal of 335,000,000 (M) bushels compared with this year's indicated crop of about 420,000,000 bushels.

Next year's crop will have no government price support. Congressional action this year took away supports which have cost the government more than $500,000,000 (M) since early in the war.

The department said its suggested goal was intended to help farmers make production plans on a "realistic basis" since price supports end with this year's crop.

Suspects In Confidence Game

DALLAS, Oct. 19.—(P)—Two men were held on federal charges today after FBI agents said they nearly succeeded in bilking a Missouri postmaster of $30,000 in a confidence game.

The postmaster, Joe E. Souttee, Marionville, Mo., was at a Dallas bank yesterday, seeking to cash some bonds when the FBI stopped him and warned Souttee of the plot.

An hour later officers arrested the two alleged confidence men in a hotel, where they were waiting for Souttee to turn the money over to them.

FBI agents identified the two men as Bob George Wharton, 24, Wichita, Kas., and Jack E. Douglas, 48, an ex-convict. They were to be arraigned today.

Souttee, in a written statement, related that the $30,000 was to be used to help collect a $301,000 horse race bet.

He said he met the two men about a month ago under the names of Walter and Morton. While in Springfield one day with Walter, who was purportedly negotiating for the purchase of a general store, they found a billfold. It belonged to a Mr. Morton, who was contacted. It was then that the race winning angle appeared, and Souttee was persuaded to put $30,000 for a share in the winnings.

Souttee said he withdrew $30,000 in government bonds from an Aurora bank and accompanied Walter to Tulsa and later to Dallas.

Wound Negro Rapist Suspect

CALERA, Ala., Oct. 19.—(P)—Five members of a huge posse hunting an accused Negro rapist, shot and wounded a Negro in woods near Calera today.

He was turned over to state highway patrolmen who sped off with him.

The wounded man's identity was not immediately established but sheriff's deputies said he was believed to be Cooper Drake, Calera Negro who had been named as a major suspect by Sheriff A. E. Norwood.

E. Norwood, a member of the group that captured the Negro, said the possemen "jumped" the man about 3 1/2 miles west of Calera.

"He just jumped and ran," Rowland said. "We hollered for him to stop. He kept on running and we shot everything at him—rifles, pistols, everything."

"He was hit at least three times probably more." Drake, who had been released only three months ago after serving an army rape sentence, had been sought throughout the night as the gunman who shot to death a small white boy after raping the child's mother.

Boys Bludgeoned Babe to Death

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.—(P)—A month-old infant was bludgeoned to death last night by three little boys, five and six years old, police reported today. The tragedy was in one of Baltimore's Negro districts.

Stunned policemen were puzzled about what to do. The three youngsters cannot be arrested. Maryland law holds a child is not responsible for criminal acts until he is seven years old. The case was put up to the state's attorney's office.

Sgt. Elmer Bowen pieced together this story:

Mrs. Ernestine Carmichael left her infant son asleep in his crib about 6 p. m. and slipped out to the store. Three little neighbor boys were playing in her back yard.

The boys sneaked into the house and into the baby's room. The baby began to cry.

One boy, six, picked up a nursing bottle and bashed the baby in the face. The other six-year-old hit the baby in the face with his fist.

The third boy, five, lifted the baby from the crib by the arms and swung it around and around. He lost his grip and the baby dropped to the concrete floor, on its head.

Mrs. Carmichael returned in 15 minutes to find her son bleeding from the head. She swept him up in her arms, ran into the street, hailed a cab, and took him to a hospital. He died there three hours later.

Heat Wave Is Nearing Its End

By The Associated Press

The mid-October heat wave over the central part of the country appeared nearing an end today.

Cooler weather which spread over the northern Great Plains and northern Rockies yesterday was moving into the upper Mississippi valley today. Temperatures, however, were expected to be above normal over most of the Midwest again today.

Readings hit record highs for the date yesterday over many parts of the Great Lakes region, the central Mississippi valley and the southern Great Plains. They were in the high 80's in many cities—87 at Chicago, Des Moines, Sioux City, Burlington and Dubuque, Ia., Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and 86 at Omaha and Marquette, Mich.

Transit Service To Owners

St. Louis Company Is Back to its Private Operation

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 19.—(P)—The state turned back to St. Louis Public Service company today its big metropolitan transit system.

Missouri had operated the system for 70 days—since Aug. 10—because of a wage dispute between the company and its union employees. State seizure and operation was made possible under provisions of the 1947 utility anti-strike law.

The action today thus became the first time the law has been used to its fullest extent—representing the state's intervention in a utility wage dispute, settlement of the argument through a suggested compromise by Gov. Forrest Smith and subsequent return of the system to the company.

It will cost the company, as a sort of fine, $50 for each day the state's agent, Vance Julian, actually put in as supervisor of the transit system during the 70-day period.

The Governor said the purpose of the per diem payment was not exactly a fine, but:

"There has been some complaint on the part of labor that there's no teeth in the law as far as the company is concerned."

He said he wouldn't call it a fine, but "you're pretty close to it there." It merely puts some financial burden on the company in case a dispute forces state seizure, he said.

The Governor's proclamation calls for return to the system to company operation as of 10 a. m. today.

Julian sent a telegram to the company, advising its officers of the Governor's action.

He said he hadn't counted on the number of days for which the per diem payment might be charged against the company.

There were few days during the period, he said, on which some action was not taken by him in supervising the state operation of the St. Louis system.

"But it can't be more than 70 days or $3,500," he said.

It was the Governor's suggested solution that ended the dispute.

Sir Stafford Cripps Has Resigned

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(P)—Britain's economic czar, Sir Stafford Cripps, quit his senior cabinet post today.

Cripps, 61, long known as "Mr. Austerity" to millions of Britons, resigned from the chancellorship of the exchequer he took over in November, 1947. In that position, corresponding roughly to secretary of the treasury in the United States, Cripps held wide powers over the economy of Britain.

He spearheaded the drive, recently successful, of building up Britain's dollar and gold reserves after the postwar slump which threatened Britain's life as a going concern.

He resigned because of the ill health that has plagued him several years. He has colitis, a form of digestive trouble.

Cripps' departure is expected to touch off a series of changes in the British cabinet. There have been recurring reports that Ernest Bevin, also long in ill health, wants to give up the foreign ministry.

Among the posts Cripps has held at one time or another were ambassador to Moscow, lord privy seal and House of Commons leader, minister of aircraft production, president of the board of trade (which approximates the U. S. department of commerce) and minister of economic affairs.

Mrs. Wheeler survives him as do two daughters Mrs. H. L. Mewes, 700 East Seventeenth street and Mrs. Marjorie Bronson of the home; three sisters Misses Marian and Genevieve Wheeler, both of Hughesville and Miss Gwendolyn Wheeler of St. Louis; one brother William Wheeler of Hughesville and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary Cecil Tevis, a sister, preceded him in death in 1935.

Mr. Wheeler was a member of the Christian church in Hughesville. He became a member of that church in 1907. In 1918 he moved to his present address and was engaged in farming.

Funeral services will be held at the Gillespie funeral home on this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Rev. David M. Bryan, pastor of the First Christian church, will officiate.

Palbearers will be Oden Bruce, John Ryan, Richard Cole, Arthur Billingsley, William Curran and George Reavis.

Interment will be in the Memorial Park cemetery.

Mrs. Julia Ann Stansberry Mrs. Julia Ann Stansberry, 89, died at her home at 904 East Third street at 8:20 o'clock Thursday night after one week illness.

She is survived by three sons: John, Lester and Roy.

The body is at the McLaughlin funeral chapel.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Files Murder Charge On 2 Farm Laborers

AVA, Mo., Oct. 19.—(P)—Charges of first degree murder were filed today against two farm laborers, reported by officers to have admitted the fatal beating of a man because he refused to drink wine with them.

Named in the complaints were Roy Lamb, 20, and Doyle Short, 24 of Squires, Mo., both described by Sheriff George Prock as "boys who liked to drink and raise hell."

Body In The River

They were accused of the fatal beating of Ralph Merritt, 52 of near Mansfield, also a laborer, who wandered over the Ozarks Hills working at odd jobs. His body was found last Sunday in the Little North Fork river.

Arraigned before a magistrate today, both were ordered held without bond. Later Lamb was transferred to the Greene county jail at Springfield, and Short to the Howell county jail at West Plains.

Officers said they were transferred from the Douglas county jail for "safekeeping."

Lamb and Doyle, both with previous records, were arrested earlier in the week in the beating of Harold Warden 78-year-old invalid of Squires. Sheriff Prock said after the pair had admitted beating the aged man and robbing him of $8, officers began questioning them in the Merritt case.

Admitted Slaying

They were taken to the river, near where the body was found. Later, the sheriff said, both men admitted the Merritt slaying.

He related they told him that they picked up Merritt the night of Oct. 7 and asked him to drink wine with them. When he refused, they said, they began beating him with their fists and later with an old motor car head lamp. They then tied a rope around the neck and dragged the body to the river where it was found last Sunday night.

"The man was killed for no reason," the sheriff said. "Not robbery, not any real motive. He simply refused to drink some wine."

Mo's Training Schools Rate With US Bureau

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19.—(P)—Dr. Richard J. Clemendin, consultant of training schools for the U. S. children's bureau today praised the Missouri state board of training schools for improvements made at the institutions.

He made a survey of the institutions two years ago and another recently. Today he met for three hours with the board to discuss the reports.

"We were much pleased with his report," said Col. John J. Griffin, St. Louis, chairman of the board.

"He told us that 'unless I had seen it I would not have believed that so much progress could have been made in two years.'"

Dr. Clemendin said he was most impressed by the physical changes in buildings and equipment and the difference in the attitude of the students.

Colonel Griffin said Dr. Clemendin would submit a written report on his findings and also would offer some suggestions.

He added that the board would adopt some of these suggestions at later meetings.

The board also discussed plans for a new chapel at the state training school for boys at Boonville.

Besides Colonel Griffin members attending the meeting were: J. John Willis, Kansas City; J. S. Williamson, Columbia; Oren J. Lamb, Macon; A. D. Bond, Mexico, and Ellis F. Rucker, Jefferson City.

Is Arrested In Torch Slaying

CHARLESTON, Mo., Oct. 19.—(P)—Mrs. Pearl Fowler Smith, attractive 33-year-old brunette, surrendered to officers last night after being the object of search for nearly two months. She was arraigned today on charges of arson of an automobile and murder growing out of the mysterious torch slaying of William Lowder, 64-year-old farmer the night of August 26. Her bond was fixed at $2,500.

Lowder's bullet-pierced body was found in his blazing automobile on a side road near here and officers said there is no doubt but that he had been slain and oil poured onto the car before it was set on fire.

Lowder had withdrawn between $6,000 and $8,000 from a bank the day before he was found dead and his wife was quoted by officers as saying he had intended to buy a farm near Farmington, Mo.

An investigation resulted in charges being filed against Mrs. Smith. She appeared at the office of her attorney late yesterday and then surrendered. She refused to discuss the charges.

Burial will be at 11:00 o'clock this morning at the Ferguson funeral home. The Rev. J. Y. Jackson, pastor of the Burns chapel, Free-pastor of the Burns chapel, will officiate. The body will be in Saline county at Gillum. The body will remain at the Ferguson funeral home until time for the services.

More Expensive For The Beer Drinkers

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19.—(P)—Beer drinking has suddenly become more expensive in St. Louis taverns.

About 80 per cent of the taverns have increased the retail price of bottled beer from 15 to 20 cents a bottle, Secretary John O. Johnson of the St. Louis Tavern Operators Association announced.

He predicted the others will soon increase beer prices because "they cannot continue to absorb increased costs and stay in business."

Several breweries here hiked wholesale beer prices ten cents a case last week.

Mongrel Dogs Kill Six Black Antelope

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19.—(P)—Two large mongrel dogs killed six black antelope does today in an antelope enclosure at the St. Louis zoo and then were shot to death by Ralph Sikes, a watchman.
